What was Northrop High three years ago?

It was a brick building, a big beautiful building, housing many rooms.... Rooms to be used for making sounds of music, Rooms to be used for creating works of art, Rooms to be used for expressing your creativity on paper, and one big room to be used for traveling to far-away lands or for being whoever you want to be in shelves and shelves of books.

But at the beginning these rooms were all the same. None were different.

They were all just schoolrooms in which students were to be taught, made of thousands and thousands of bricks.

They had no personality, They lacked the experiences of happiness, sadness, triumph, and defeat, Those of learning and failure.

They lacked that knowledge of other students, who had once before traveled these same paths, One who would always be remembered in that room, And the many more who were forgotten.

But the past has happened, it is now history.

The last of the original Bruins, our own Papa Bruin and the Class of '74 are leaving to future Bruins, the strength they have found in this mighty structure. Giving to them this finished product...

"A Mighty Bruin", Built not with bricks of mud but bricks of knowledge, painted in friendship, cemented in spirit, ending up,

"standing with pride and 'originality.'"

SALUTES THE LAST OF THE ORIGINALS

These thoughts prevail... Not only at Northrop,

Two men will be hard to duplicate.
Their ideals and ambitions will remain in the minds and hearts of mankind forever.

"I have a dream..."

I say to you today, my friends, even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream. I have a dream that one day this Nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed - "We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal."

I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood. I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, sweltering with the heat of injustice, sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice.

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a Nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skins, but by the conduct of their characters.

I have a dream that one day in Alabama, with this vicious racist, its Governor, having his lips dripping the word in interposition and nullification one day right there in Alabama the black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and little white girls as brothers and sisters.

I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted; every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plane, the crooked places will be made straight and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed and all flesh shall see it together.

This is our hope. This is the faith that I go back to the South with. With this faith, we will be able to hew out of the mountains of despair a stone of hope. With this faith, we will be able to transform the jangling discord of our Nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood. With this faith, we will be able to work together; to play together; to struggle together; to go to jail together; to stand up for freedom together knowing that we will be free one day....

...Martin Luther King, Jr.

but "Throughout America"

But it is not an impossibility that one day,
Northrop could produce thoughts as great as these.
Ones to be remembered and to be proud of.

"A vision of hope..."

I look forward to a great future for America - a future in which our country will match its military strength with our moral restraint, its wealth with our wisdom, its power with our purpose.

I look forward to an America which will not be afraid of grace and beauty, which will protect the beauty of our natural environment, which will preserve the great old American houses and squares and parks of our national past and which will build handsome and balanced cities for our future.

I look forward to an America which will reward achievement in the arts as we reward achievement in business or science or sports.

I look forward to an America which will enlarge cultural opportunities for all of our citizens.

And I look forward to an America which commands respect throughout the world not only for its strength but for its civilization as well.

And I look forward to a world which will be safe not only for democracy and diversity but also for personal freedom.

John F. Kennedy

What makes an original BRUIN. . .

What makes an original Bruin.....
Can you tell me?
Is it their happy smile
or the fascination of the eyes?
The way they stand or the firmness of their handshake?
Is it all these things?
Yes.....and more
A Bruin enjoys life.
The company of friends
during moments of excitement or sadness of triumph and defeat.
He is willing to absorb
new ideas and opinions.
To accept each other
with an open mind.
Looking at the good points with the bad.
Knowing that with one.....
there will always be the other.

'Can you tell me?'

Life means 'to hope', 'to honor', 'to wonder', and 'to gain happiness'.

To set forth the inner self,
to be an individual,
To do your thing,
Is to express oneself
with a smile,
a cry,
a victory cheer,
Feeling of embarrassment,
timidness,
brightness,
and freedom.
To have a single moment to be your self.

Express yourself in your own way: be original!

Each holiday leaves a different memory...

A holiday is a time to relive the past.
A pinch on Saint Patty's Day,
Pulling Santas' beard,
Finding the turkeys' magic wishbone,
Dying your fingers red, yellow, blue, and green.
We all remember those times.
Because when it comes to holidays,
Memories will never let you entirely grow up.

But what are holidays without people to share them?
There are always certain people who are special to you.
Ones you couldn't do without.
Ones you seem to laugh with more,
or cry with easier.
Those you let share special moments with you.
All these people will never appear to anyone else
as they do to you.

...As do 'very special people'.

Bruins involve themselves in many activities

'in and out of school'

Life means involvement,
So be an involved person.
Go to school and participate;
get involved.
Be in a class skit,
decorate for homecoming,
cheer at a football game,
or be the best basketball team;
in the whole state.
But don't limit yourself only to school;
look out into the world.
Look even beyond the United States,
To Asia, Africa, and the Middle East.
Is there anything you can do to help?
How can a single person accomplish anything?
We all should find our own way.

Stars fill our hearts with cherished dreams;
yet we continue to live in fairy tale worlds.

...

When you're alone, just sittin' by yourself-- think--think well.
When you're standin' in a crowd all alone-- think--look and think.
And while you think--if you begin to pity yourself you think too much.

Again

I've watched you change your mind
in letter after letter
I take on the task of trying to understand you.

*Again.

The Hardest Words to Say

Why do you only notice the out of date rags I wear, and the car I never drive, and the promises I fail to keep?

Do you always search for love in the night?

Why?

I'm standing right in front of you-- if only you would open your eyes.

You want advice-- but how can I give advice if I don't understand it myself?

The blind cannot lead the blind and the dumb cannot talk to the deaf--

So how am I to be sure you'll accept my love for you?

Must I tell you the pleasure and enjoyment I find in your company-- the beauty and joy I find in your smile-- and the pleasantries I find in just being with you?

Must I tell you that I see you-- not as other men do (with the lust of their eyes and flesh)-- but as the pride of my life?

Are you unable to see this or did I fail to tell you?

I guess I never learned how to say the words

"I love you" have I?

October 26, 1973 was the date set for the second annual Homecoming at Northrop. The evening's festivities opened with the football game against the Huntington Vikings. During halftime the 13 girls elected to the Homecoming court were presented to the crowd. Marianne Ferraro was crowned Northrop's 1973-'74 Homecoming queen by Jennifer Johnson. After a striking Northrop win a victory dance was held in the gym.

The bright orange flames and the deep brown shadows reflect the Bruin spirit at the bonfire.

Vicki Visick, Brad Lusk, Jeff Stratton, Judy Weimer, Terry Offord and the class officers are but a few of the seniors that helped decorate the senior hall for Homecoming to sink the Vikings.

Jeff Stratton won the honors for the most original hat on hats-off day.

Ring the bell for joy.

During the week of the game, a number of other festivities were going on. Decorations glittered the halls all week, ending with the sophomores winning the hall decorations trophy. Monday was designated as lick-em-day. Tuesday, hats-off day, Wednesday, Bruin day. Thursday, 50's day and the bonfire. And Friday concluded the week as colors day and the big game.

"Stargate" played their own kind of music for the victory dance.

Robin Fember, Laura Bruner and Nancy Bruner dance on stage while portraying down home Tennessee hillbillies in their version of the Tennessee Whisk.

The Man Who Came to Dinner

The members of the cast are all at each others throats because of the over- stay of Mr. Whitesides.

Three visitors come to the Stanley home to see Mr. Whitesides.

Maggie Cutler, Mr. Whitesides' secretary, makes a social call.

Steve Norris plays Sheridan Whitesides in "The Man Who Came To Dinner".

Mr. Whitesides talks to Banjo, a dear friend, while Maggy listens.

Members of the Advanced Drama Class were involved in the fall play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner". The plot consisted of Mr. Whitesides falling down outside the Stanley's home, and hurting his leg. Being congenial hosts, the Stanley's insist on Whitesides on staying at their home until he is well again. As the play progresses they have second thoughts about his stay, he was taking advantage of their hospitality, telling them when they could go out, and when they could come in. Finally, when Whitesides is getting ready to leave, he falls down outside again, and the whole thing starts once more.

Carla Escosa, Renee Gunder, Julie Young play the 3 visitors.

Frank Butler, (Steve Norris) flares at the sight of Annie's pictures on the bill boards.

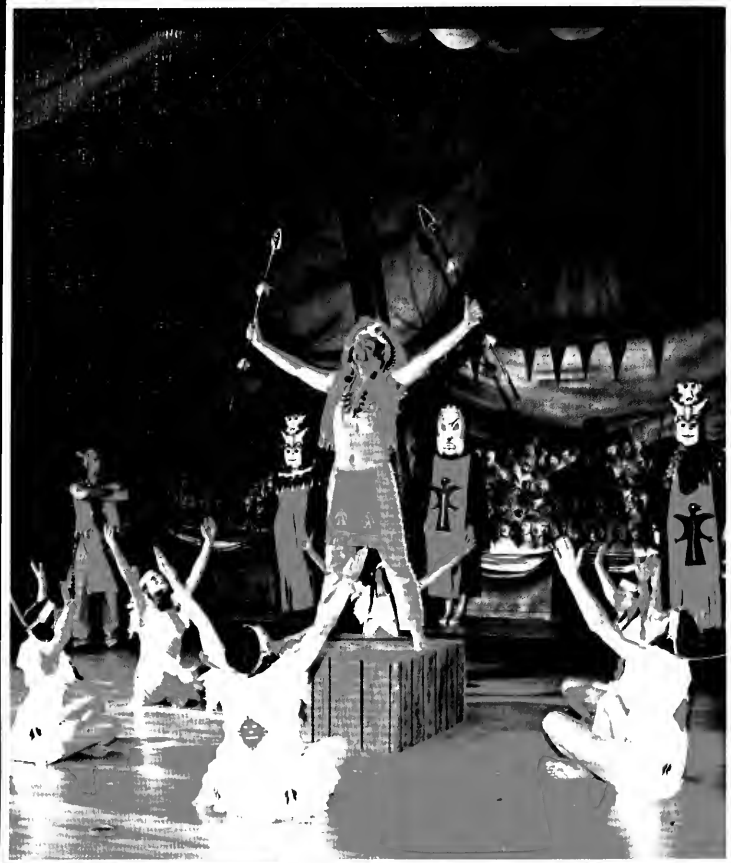

The course of true love never runs very straight, especially if you watch it run in the Northrop Musicals. This year was not any exception to the rule as Julie Johnson lamented as Annie Oakley that you can't get your man with a gun. Then she found that in her pursuit of Steve Norris who was cast as Dan Butler, there are other and more deadly weapons for the ladies.

'Annie Get Your Gun' played to packed houses for three nights as the Northrop brand of dramatics appealed to many of the Fort Wayne theater goers.

The third annual musical brought the variety of talents and the surplus of the colors and costumes that mark the lavish productions that are presented yearly. It is amazing where Mr. Del Proctor and his new dramatic companion Mr. Jim Purkhiser find such talent or where Mr. Bill Heins and his music cronies find such fine talent for the vocalizing or for the pit Orchestra. It seems there is a never ending supply in Northrop's fine arts people.

One of the most colorful parts of 'Annie Get Your Gun' has to be the Indian roles as brought to life by Joe Maupin and by Bert Bluechner. They and their crew of so animated redskins put a verve and a flash in this production that was enjoyed by all who had the pleasure to watch.

Many semiprofessional and professional groups would be proud to display the high technique and the crowd pleasing attitudes that have marked Northrop's musicals.

The Indian ceremonial dance before Annie is made Chief Sitting Bull's daughter.

Pawny Bill and Buffalo Bill meet again as old "Fuddies."

Annie and Frank have the crowd and the audience spellbound as they sing "Anything Goes."

Annie got her man in the end without using a gun

Chief Sitting Bull comforts Annie after reading her a farewell letter from Frank.

"You Can Do, I Can Do Better."

The coachman, Mark Fredrick, complains to Charley about the Indians in the coach.

Annie makes the rounds, meeting all the "white gloves", and showing off her medals.

For the first time in Northrop's history, the Northrop Organization for Women (N.O.W.), put together a Women's Week November 5-9.

Approximately 35 speakers were invited to participate in this eventful project. The speakers spoke on job careers open for women of today; the problems of women in business; and discrimination in general.

The highlight of the entire week was the presentation of the Meg Christian Concert held on Nov. 6th at 8:00 p.m. in the school auditorium.

During the week of May 4-12, Fort Wayne presented a city wide Women's Week. N.O.W. from Northrop was in charge of publicity.

Sports activities, art exhibits, lectures, and a variety show were only a few of the many attractions. There was also a picnic where awards were passed out, plus a night spent at the Lakeside coffehouse where poetry and music were presented. The week ended with the honoring of Mother's Day.

Scott Zook, Gerri Tuttle, and Marge Slabach listen intently to Meg Christian.

Seniors Honored at Senior Reception and Recognition

Before the reception, students and parents checked their coats.

Seniors and parents were greeted at the door with a reception line of teachers and Papa Bruin.

Everyone grabbed goodies at the reception table. Thanks to the juniors who prepared everything.

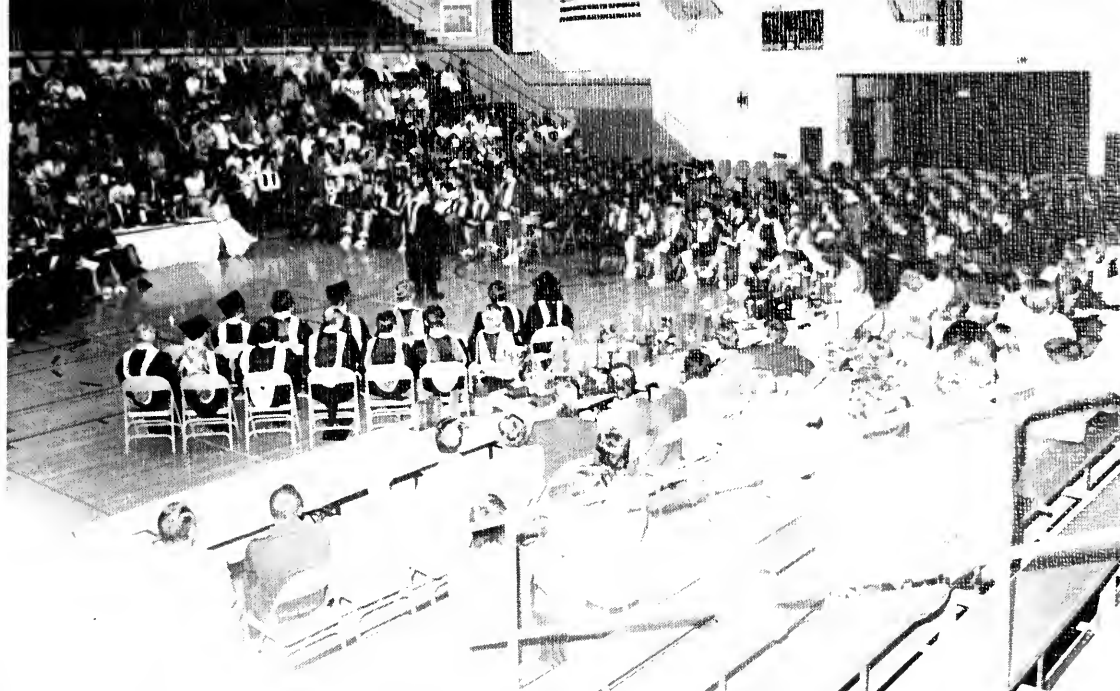

The Senior Reception was planned for the main purpose of getting the teachers together with the parents for one of the last times before graduation.

During the program Tom Madden talked about the after-prom, and introduced the entertainment.

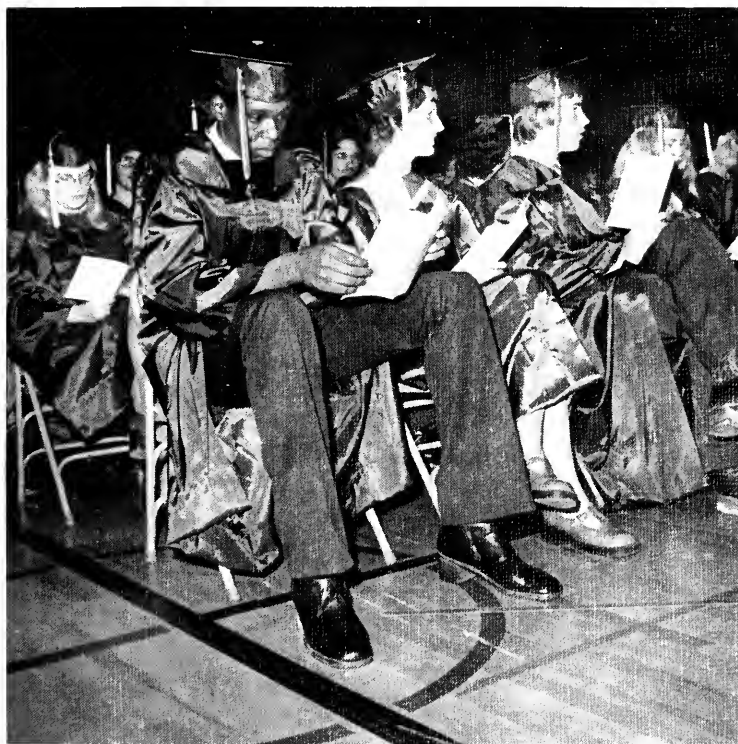

Steve Norris, Faye Williams, Sue Kimes, Lisa Aldred, and Tonya Prater did a selection from our spring musical, "Annie Get Your Gun." They sang "I'm a Bad, Bad Man."

After the program and entertainment, it was time for refreshments. The table was covered with cookies, cakes, coffee, and punch. Then everyone milled around, met new people and became reacquainted with the old. All in all, the evening was very enjoyable.

Everyone is captivated while listening to Papa Bruin on Senior Recognition night.

The distribution of trophies and awards was made on Recognition night, Thursday May 30. Starting at 7:30, trophies were passed out left and right, from such areas as athletics, academics, Best Girl and Best Boy Citizen, Journalism, art, service work and many others.

Closing speeches were made by the Best Girl and Boy Citizens, Marianne Ferraro and Walter Jordan. To finish the evening, the class and audience sang the Alma Mater led by Steve Norris and Vicki Visick.

The day of June 4 finally arrived. This day saw 548 seniors become graduates. A day that few would forget. Not only that it was the first class to go all three years from Northrop but it was a day that emotions flowed freely.

Three years of memories, love and friendship were summed up in the 55 minute graduation ceremony.

When the last senior received his or her diploma and became a graduate all the grads knew that these memories would not end but be strengthened in the years to come.

The math department here at Northrop offers a larger course selection than most high school students expect. The courses include fundamentals of geometry, general math 1 and 2, 3 and 4, trigonometry, advanced algebra 3 and 4, analytic geometry, and algebra 1 and 2. These classes range from very elementary math to high ability honor courses.

In general math 1 and 2 and 3 and 4 the emphasis is on exploring mathematics in breadth rather than in depth. Fundamentals of algebra 1 and 2 and 3 and 4 includes study of the system of rational numbers, simplifying algebraic expressions, and the solving of linear equation. A prerequisite for more advanced study of math is algebra 1 and 2.

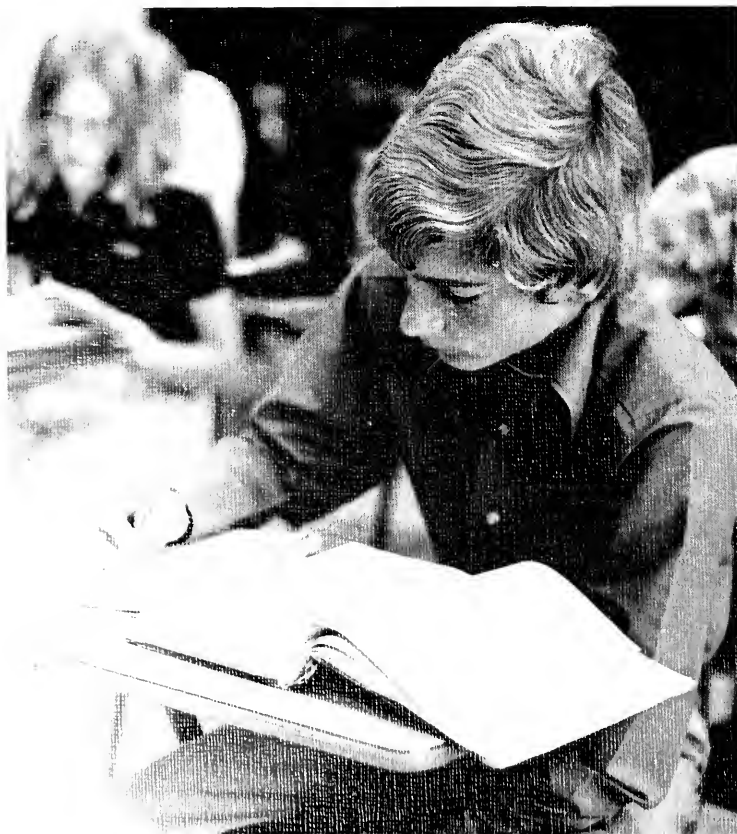

In geometry classes students strengthen their algebraic skills extend their knowledge of basic geometric facts, and are introduced to the nature of formal deductive proof as it is used in mathematics.

Fundamentals of geometry is a lot like geometry 1 and 2. Trigonometry, analytic geometry, and advanced mathematics are courses designed for students who plan to continue study in mathematics after high school.

Kent Gullame and Vicki Vondran both seniors work out a problem at the board in Mr. Schawb's Advanced Math class using the slide rule.

Working diligently hard on her trigonometry is senior Sharon Kuechel.

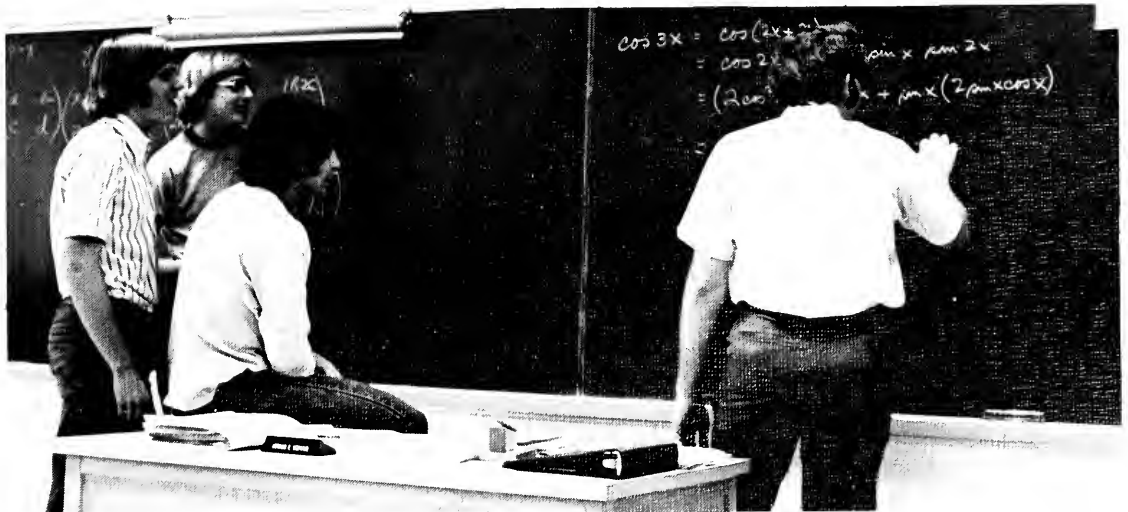

Book work, board work all useful in working all types of math problems

In Introductory Algebra Sophomore Mike Johnson works a problem at the board.

The math department consists of Ms. Ewert, Mr. Kuhn, Ms. Plumatis. Second row is Mr. Rupp, Mr. Schawb, Mr. Thrasher, Mr. Bickel and Mr. Dornte.

At the board Kevin Craft skillfully works out a difficult Advanced Math problem. Seniors Ernie Bojrab, Roy Klein and Tom DeCamp watch

Kevin after they were stumped by the math problem. Mr. Arthur E. Schawb teaches the Advanced Math class.

Students must concentrate intently to Mr. Bernie Richardville's chemistry lectures.

Students in applied physical science fly paper airplanes to test out the laws learned in the classroom.

Lectures, lab and fun found in Science classes

The science department is pictured here. Seated is Mr. Dick Levy, department head. Standing are Mr. John McCory, Mr. Steve Flohr, Mr. Bernie Richardville, Mr. Jake Baker, and Mr. Jim Keim.

Focusing a microscope is a necessity for laboratory work in biology class.

As the clown lurks overhead, the students in Mr. Baker's physics class study the laws which cause him to remain balanced on the wire.

Many such models were used in the Physics classes to help students understand the laws and concepts they were studying.

Seniors Ken Overton and Max Mertz carefully set up the equipment needed for an experiment in Mr. Baker's physics class. Many models and much equipment are used in physics to improve understanding.

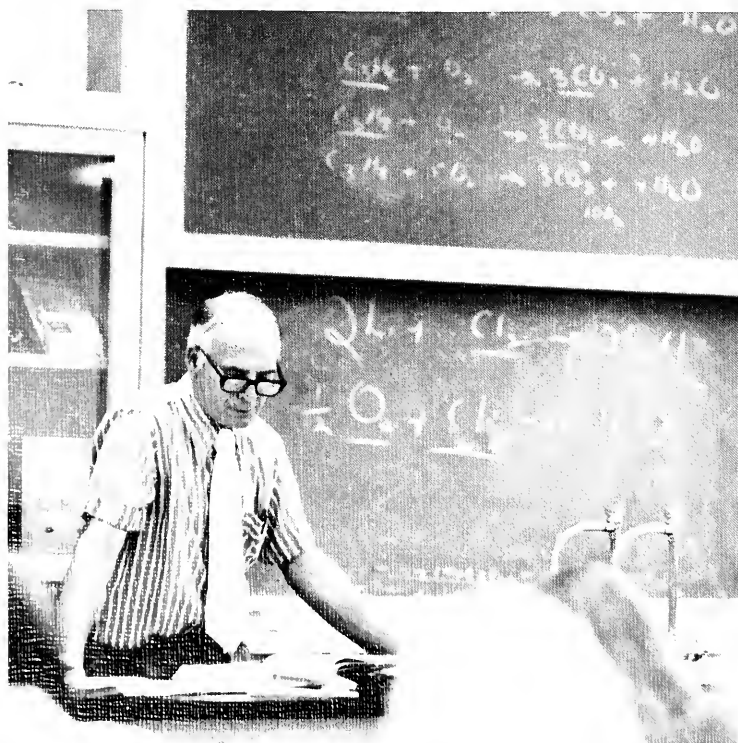

Mr. Levy and his pal the skeleton show what the bones are in the human body.

Disecting a clam is delicate work as Mike Waring finds out as he arranges the dissecting tools and prepares to begin drection. The clam is only the beginning of many other specimens which will be dissected in Mr. Levy's Advanced Biology classes.

Mr. Bernard Richardville demonstrates the necessity of knowing how to balance chemical equations during one of his chemistry classes by working out some equations on the chalk board.

Ken Overton weighs a mouse which is part of the data needed in this experiment.

Experiments Extra Work but Useful in Science

Senior, Tom Smith, carefully attends to his tomato plants. These plants are part of Tom's Advanced Science project under the direction of Mr. Levy, head of the Science Department.

Mr. J. Baker, Mr. S. Flohr, Mr. J. Keim, Mr. R. Kuhn, Mr. R. Levy (Head of Science Department), Mr. J. McCorry, and Mr. B. Richardville make up the fine Science staff at Northrop this year.

There are many types of science classes. Physics, the development of the understanding of natural physical laws, Applied Physical Science, the study of the physical laws of nature, Advanced Biology, the study of plants, animals, and protists and how they develop into experimental design, control of variables, and population dynamics, Chemistry, the study of energy relationships associated with physical changes, and Earth Science, which uses concepts from geology, astronomy, understanding of the earth as a body in the solar system. The other sciences are Advanced Science, which is advanced work in Biology and Chemistry, Environmental Conservation, which portrays our environment in the sense of unwise natural resource use and management, and Applied Life Science, the study of living things.

Jolinda Judge looks through her issue of stock to decide whether to buy or sell.

Senior, Paul Miller reads the newspaper during Mr. Epps government class to find what is going on in local and national issues for class discussion.

Senior, Karen VanGorder wants to know who the chip belongs to so they can either buy or sell their stocks or bonds. "The Stock and Bond" game is just one of many that Economics students play to get a better idea of how the economic system works.

Senior, Vicki Vondran keeps records of fellow classmates scores and the stocks and bonds they have purchased to decide the winner of the game.

Soph. Bill Klopenstein, gives an oral report during World History class.

Dee Simmons listens carefully as Kent Guillaume explains the rules of "The Stock Market Game".

heated debates in Social Studies

After another round of "The Stock Market Game" in Economics, Mr. Certain reads the card which will decide whether the market will be "bear", "bull", or "mixed".

Northrop's Social Studies Department has taken on an interesting and varied curriculum. An addition of many electives has helped make his a better program.

World Geography and World History are two electives that the sophomores can choose to take. United States History is required to be taken by all juniors. Seniors are required to take one semester of United States Government and another semester of either Economics, Sociology, World Affairs, Recent United States History, or Values and Issues.

The Social Studies Department encouraged students to become involved in a variety of different programs. There were 350 registered voters in the senior class. Another program is a program of Internship at City Council meeting during the summer.

Luba Dunkin, a junior in U.S. History, presents her views on the latest current events.

Students learn foreign languages both

The foreign language department is made up of Miss V. Whisler, Mrs. A. Brudney, Mrs. J. Weber (Dept. Head), Mrs. C. Harter, Mrs. C. Robbins, and Mrs. B. Jennings.

French class isn't always studying. Doris Butler helps herself to refreshments.

What do Miss Vicki Whisler, Mrs. Carol Robbins, Mrs. Cindy Harter, Mrs. Ann Brudney, Mrs. Barbara Jennings, and Mrs. Janet Weber have in common? Together they form one of Fort Wayne's greatest Foreign Language Departments. Mrs. Weber, head of Northrop's Foreign Language Department, ranks as having an excellent program with a good variety of courses offered.

All Foreign Language classes offer opportunities to complete an advanced study in all Languages. Foreign Language Cultures is a new course offered this year to students who are not enrolled in regular foreign language classes. This course emphasizes culture of all areas of study. A Recording Lab is available to students who are enrolled in a regular foreign language class. Few classes are equipped with electronic equipment, books, records, and filmstrips. More materials are being added each year to make a better program for the students.

Senior Thresa Rupert helps her fellow classmate find her place in the book during one of their many recording sessions in the foreign language lab.

Children Literature library added to enlarge

With Mrs. Wichern as the Head of the English Department and with the help of all the other teachers, Northrop had a very good English program last year.

There were a few new classes added to the English Phase Elective program last year. Utopian Literature, which is the study of different writers' views of perfect societies, and Literature of the Western World, which consists of the students studying the writers from the Western Hemisphere and comparing philosophies of writers and the countries they are from, were two of the new classes. Literature of the Western World was only offered with the Chemistry, Math, and English block. The other new classes were Literature of American History, where the students read books centered around history that were either fiction or nonfiction, and Beckett, which consists of the study of the Noble Prize Winner.

Jan Olve, a junior practices reading a book and telling the story to younger children in Mrs. Stone's children Literature class.

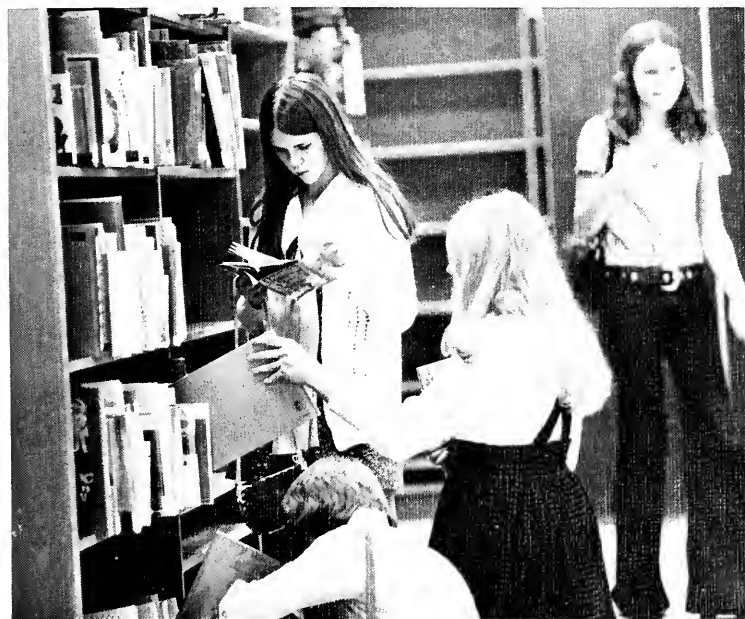

Juniors, Bill Biggs and Mark Derk, test doughnuts fed to them by Russ Shupe and Bob Gadson for Mr. Miller's Mass Media class. In this experiment to block out all the senses except taste, the boy's heads were covered with paper bags. The test was a success.

Senior Carol Anders reads passages from the Bible in Mrs. Williams' Bible Literature classes.

Penny Stier, Lynn Argerbright, Linda Berger, and Lisa Foust look for books in the Children's Literature library to practice reading during class.

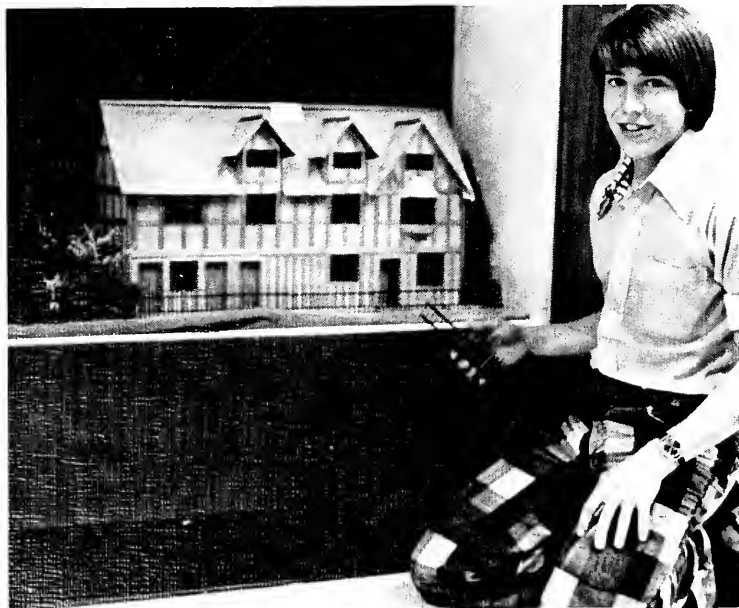

Mrs. Thompson leads class discussions on books the students read in class.

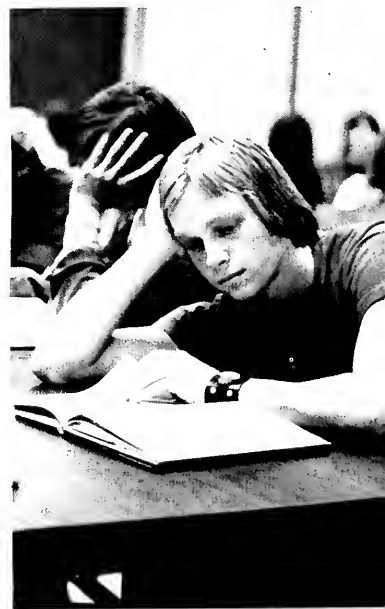

Asking questions is part of the learning process. Even students in English have many questions on how papers and projects are to be done.

Projects, questions, and acting are talents

Sophomore Tim Junk sets up a display in a showcase with a Shakesparan theatre he has built.

Reading is relaxation. Ken Hyndman reads a book for enjoyment.

Seniors, Cheryl Sanders, Max Mertz and Junior, Donna Offord express their opinions on a novel read in their 20th Century American Fiction class. Many such panels are organized to discuss novels that are read in class.

displayed in English electives

Children's Literature students made many projects such as stuffed animals and dolls.

Juniors, Hank Hankey and Scott Zook demonstrate their acting ability in Children's Theater class. These students have a natural talent for acting and try to show other students how it is done.

Speech class means expressing opinions

Whether you join a beginning speech class or an advanced speech class you are in for a lot of fun.

Mr. Brown, Northrop's speech teacher, includes impromptu, debate, introducing others, and formal speeches as the different areas in which the speech students spend their time studying. Many students that take speech also belong to Northrop's speech club which is also organized by Mr. Brown. By joining speech classes or even speech club students are able to compete against other students and learn new techniques which will help them to better themselves when giving a speech.

Junior, Scott Zook, tries to prove his point of view by arguing in class.

Junior, Cindy Lambert tries to keep everyone's viewpoint straight, arguments limited and order in the classroom.

Mark Hull and Cindi Lambert work together to keep order in the classroom, settle a debate and keep all other students happy. Trying to express your own viewpoints without criticizing others is a skill which most of the speakers want to achieve.

Mr. William Brown is Northrop's speech teacher.

Junior, Barb Bristol, expresses her viewpoint on an issue while her fellow classmate Gary Baur seems unimpressed.

Journalism department thrown

Newspaper advisor Mr. James Sweeney holds a summit meeting with the 'What's Bruin' major editors.

Senior Jody Weimer registers underclassmen for their yearbook pictures.

Senior Terry Offord helps pass out the 1973 issue of Bear Tracks in August before school begins again and all of the graduates have gone their separate ways.

Senior Cathy Wilkerson looks over a finished layout before it's mailed to the publisher.

Beginning journalism? Not all class time is spent like this! The students learn both yearbook and newspaper.

The Journalism Department under the supervision of Mr. James Sweeney had a busy and condused year this year.

The Newspaper the "What's Bruin", started and off-set system. This new program gives the newspaper staff more work with which they did trying many new styles to give a variety to Northrop's readers.

This year was also a first for the magazine covered stories ranging from girls gymnastics to tourney time.

The yearbook "Bear Tracks" staff started theri year with distribution of the 1972-73 edition of the yearbook. Copy captions, and pictures were the building blocks for the yearbook after a major theme was decided upon.

Although a new off-set program was started this yare. The publications students were very busy keeping fellow "Bruins" informed of school happenings.

The journalism department is headed by Mr. J.P.Sweeney. He takes pride in all editions of the paper, and in the yearbook and is always ready to help the staffs improve their work.

Mr. Jim Sweeney gives helpful hints to Photog Charlie Turner on an assignment.

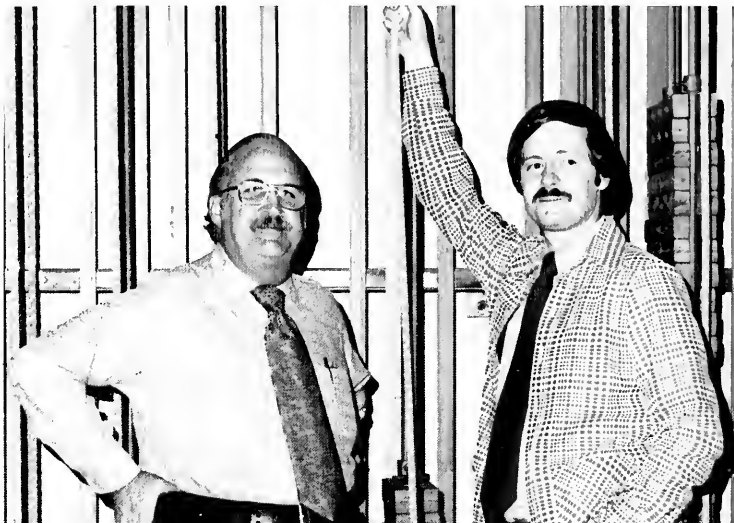

Students show talents through stage productions

Like all successful enterprises, the Northrop Drama department underwent an expansion. With the addition of Mr. James Purkhiser as a faculty member, the Drama staff grew from one to two.

Along with Mr. Del Proctor, Mr. Purkhiser helped the many and varied stage offerings in Bruin land. The fall play was the serious drama "The Man Who Came to Dinner." This success was to be followed by the colorful and many faceted variety show "Etc. 74". Capping off a big year for the students of the boards was the smash musical "Annie Get Your Gun".

Now just acting and stage presence help to make the drama at Northrop a success, but there are the technical aspects that are handled in depth. Five semesters of the stagecraft class put the solid foundation to the skills of the actors learned in twelve sections of Drama offered through the department.

There are now eight semesters of Drama offered and these classes seem to be attracting more students each year.

Mr. Del Proctor and Mr. James Purkhiser stand back stage of the auditorium. Mr. Proctor and Mr. Purkhiser both helped with the production of 'Etc. 74' and 'Annie Get Your Gun'.

Suzanne McDonald, a senior, puts make-up on Julie Johnson. Julie Johnson, a junior, played the lead role in the musical 'Annie Get Your Gun'. She made a very good 'Annie'.

Senior Gail Altekruse sits in the auditorium and watches the rehearsals for 'Etc. 74'.

Scott Bilger, Don Porter, Tim Armstrong, Aaron Sollinger, Kip Steeg, and Mark Fredricks sing the background music as Steve Norris sings in the musical. Steve Norris, a senior, played as Frank Butler in the 1974 musical 'Annie Get Your Gun'.

Hank Hankey, a senior, patiently sits while Suzanne McDonald, a senior, applies make-up to his face. Hank Hankey played as Charlie Davenport in the musical 'Annie Get Your Gun'.

Steve Elmer, a junior, poses as Buffalo Bill. Steve played in 'Annie Get Your Gun'.

Many and varied creative projects

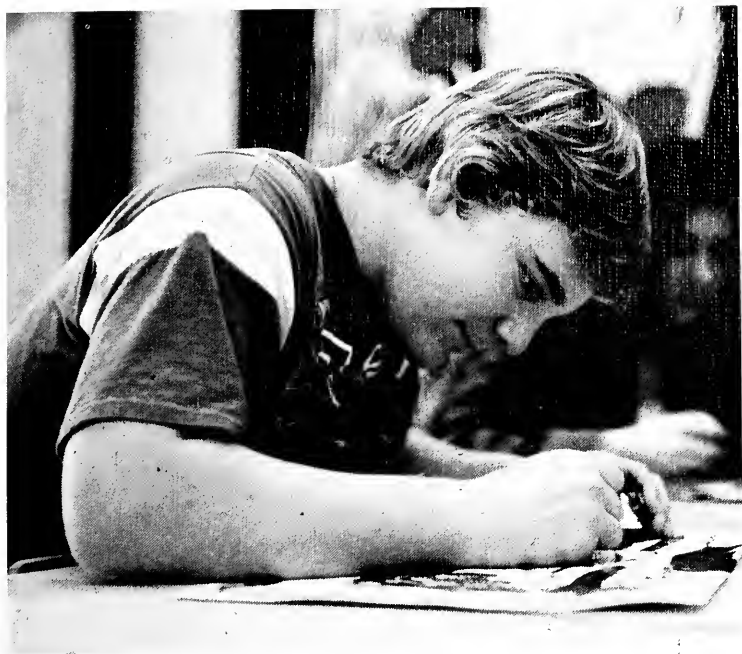

Screening is one of the talents senior Ann Miller has learned in art. Here she finishes screening another Meg Christian concert poster.

As head of Northrop High School's Art Department, Mr. Johnson teaches many different things to all of his art students.

This year the students did a lot more photo silk screening than any other projects that they worked on. They also made sculptures, made metal crafts, and print making. Ceramics and painting were two of the nine week projects that the advanced classes did. The beginning classes worked on special projects for two to three weeks, whereas, the advanced classes worked on their projects for almost nine weeks.

This year, painting with watercolors is one of the many talents that can be learned in Art Classes.

Northrop's Marching Band's members and the Pom Pom Girls and Twirlers form an "N" during half time at one of the football games.

The Mighty Marching Brain Band entertained the Northrop football fans at the home games before the games and during half time.

Linda Armstrong, Vicki Visick, and Sandy Middleton practice playing their violins in class.

Sophomore, Pam Gaskill, practices many hours to know her part on the chimes before one of the bands many concerts this school year.

Involvement proves rewarding in music

Dave Kuntz, a sophomore, and Jim Berger, a sophomore, practice hard in Northrop's practice rooms. Dave and Jim are in Varsity Band which is directed by Mr. Gerig.

Maureen Wetzel, a junior, and Debbie Bercot, a junior, concentrate very hard during band. They play many different types of music during Concert Band.

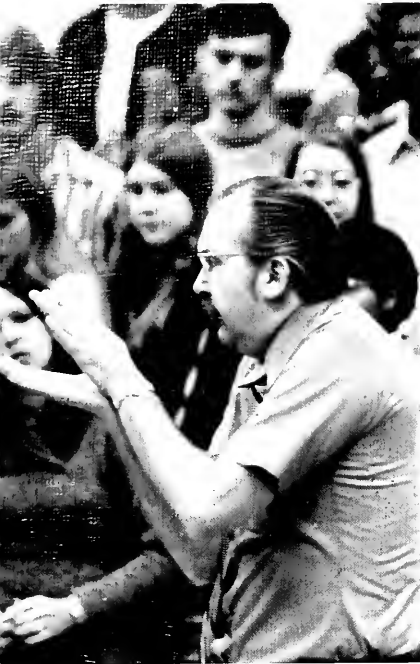

The instrumental section of the Music Department contains seven different bands. They include the Marching Band which is active during the football season, the Concert Band which is for juniors and seniors only, Varsity Band for sophomores, and Pep Band which plays for basketball games. Others are Jazz Band which participated in Etc. 74' and the Elmhurst Jazz Festival, the Orchestra that played for the Musical "Annie Get Your Gun", and Training Band for students who have never played before but would like to learn.

This year was the first time Northrop has ever had a Jazz Band. Under the direction of Mr. Barry Ashton, the band has 23 members who are sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The Jazz Band was very successful in its first year and looks for more success in coming years!

Many hours of extra practice pays off

Mr. Holloway, works with the Concert Choir students on one of their many songs.

This year the Music Department teachers were; left to right B. Ashton, B. Heins, D. Gerig (Dept. Head), and W. Holloway.

Mr. Heins works with the girls in Girls Choir before one of their concerts. Working together to blend their voices and to memorize parts is always the main goal that the girls want to achieve before a concert.

Listening for their cue to come in are the boys in the Concert Choir during a concert.

Practicing in class on listening to each other and blending their voices or even to help get your part memorized before a concert are the Concert Choir members.

for all choir members

All of the hard practices during class and after school pays off when the songs go over big with the audience during a concert.

After two and a half years as Music Director, Mr. Holloway was transferred into the Social Studies Department. Mr. William Heines was the Choral Music Department head for this past year.

Mr. Heines is responsible for Northrop's Choral groups, such as; Training Choir, which consists of all sophomores. Girls Choir, consisting of junior and senior girls, and Concert Choir, which consists only of juniors and seniors. Another Choral group is Swing Choir, which has a small group of about thirty members from the Concert Choir. The Swing Choir represents the Concert Choir on trips that the Concert Choir, consisting of seventy members, would be too large to take.

Achieving and improving

Sophomore Dave Schnepf works hard using an adding machine in class.

The Business Department includes: Back row: Mr. R. Davis, Mr. R. Dellinger (Dept. Head), Mr. B. Peterson, Mr. B. Doerffler, Mr. J. Walter, and Mr. T. Matthias. Front row: Mrs. J. Hawley, Mrs. B. Aulich, and Mrs. L. Sawin.

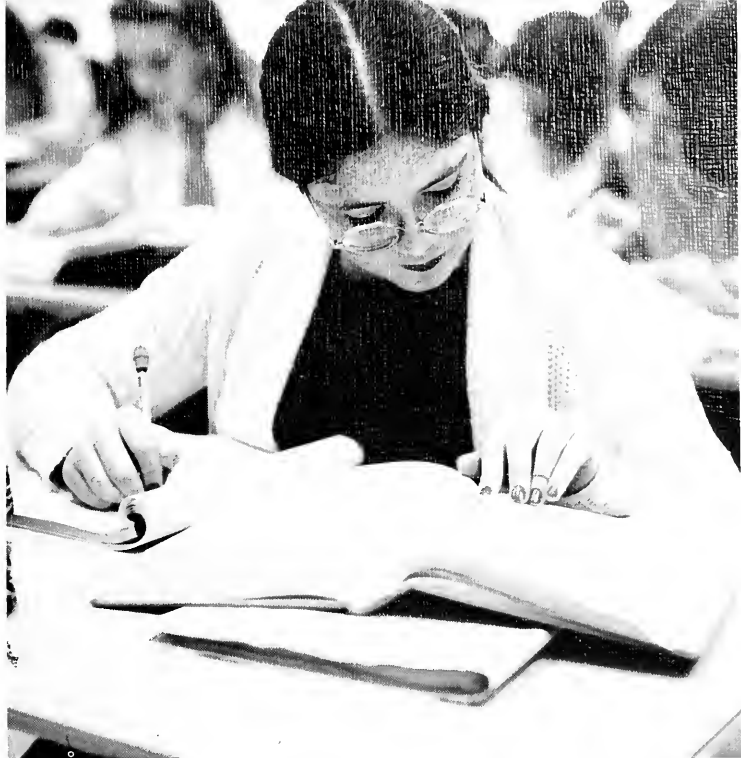

Shorthand takes much concentration and hard work as shown here by Naomi Alexander. In Mrs. Sawin's class, who teaches Northrop's three shorthand classes, memory work is also an important part of shorthand.

Sophomore Steve Debolt concentrates hard in his accounting class.

skills main goal of Business students

In Mr. Doerffler's third period Typing 3 & 4 class sophomore Nick Moisea corrects a mistake he made while using an electric typewriter.

Northrop's Business Department, headed by Mr. Dellinger, was one of the best this year.

There were many classes that included all kinds of business from Accounting to Secretarial Practice. There were both a first year and a second year in accounting, typing, recordkeeping and shorthand.

During the first year of accounting, typing, recordkeeping, and shorthand, the students learned the fundamentals of each class. The second year the students practiced for speed and accuracy. C.O.E. (Cooperative Office Education), Clerical Practice, and Secretarial Practice includes filing, typing, working with adding machines, and also running the duplication machines. Distributive Education (D.E.) and Distributive Management included the learning of how to manage stores and businesses. There was also a Business Law class.

The 1974-75 year will be the first year for Northrop to have a Data Processing class. The students will learn the fundamentals of working with computers.

Mr. Davis uses the overhead projector to show his typing students how the finished typed copies should look like.

Working together on assignments in class helps some students.

Senior Debbie Smith works carefully on her short-hand assignment.

Working together on their separate assignments the C.O.E. students learn skills necessary in the area of business.

Typewriters, adding machines used in Business

Mrs. Hawley helps the students with their different areas of work in C.O.E. Learning skills which will be used on the job is the goal which many business students try to achieve and perfect in the C.O.E. program here at Northrop.

Mr. Hunter, a student teacher, helps sophomore Colleen Augenhaugh with some of the many problems that occur during typing class.

Concentrating on assignments helps students perfect their skills.

Cooking and sewing talents proven in Home Ec.

Caring for and the principals of using appliances and cookware are only two of the things that are taught in the food's classes. The students also learn how to measure ingredients properly, cooking terms, and different ways to prepare breads, fruits, vegetables and meats. They also do a few things with cheeses in the more advanced classes.

In Human Development the students learn how different factors influence their life. They also study heredity, children and their developing stages, and the relationship between children and parents.

Clothing students learn how to make alterations, select patterns, fabric, and how to use trimming and zippers.

Learning about different types of furniture and doing layouts of rooms and houses are just some items which covered by housing students.

All the Home Economics classes help students improve their present family life and will help them in future family planning.

Mrs. Hewes believes that many of the Home Economics students are money cautious. They choose patterns and material that are of good quality but are less expensive. They are also conscious of what types of food and furniture to buy

After spending class time using their great cooking talents learned in Boy's Chef class Pat Fox, Denny Bowser, and John Magley help themselves to the finished product.

Mrs. Yoquelet helps Luella Hamilton check seams and pins material together to finish her garment as part of a project in clothing class.

Making garments is just part of what is learned by students in clothing classes here at Northrop.

Sophomores, Cindy Haughton, Judy Roberts, and Brian Stratton work together to measure out properly ingredients needed in the recipe

Carefully mixing the ingredients is a must to get good final results.

Accuracy very important to final results in Industrial Art classes

Making complete drawings of mechanical parts and residence plants are the main assignments of the drafting classes.

The students of the metal's classes make practice pieces, book weights, hammers, and learn the different methods of welding.

There are special kits that the students use in electronic's classes and students of Power Mechanics tear down and assemble motors such as those of a tractor, lawn mower, and other putt-putt motors.

The knowledge learned in Industrial Arts classes can be used in different ways. The students can go to the Vocational Center, enroll in architectural classes in college or even become employed in engineering departments.

Mr. Todd suggests that students that take Industrial Art classes should take as many math and science classes as possible.

The Industrial Arts classes available to Northrop student's are Drafting, Electronics, Metals, Power Mechanics, and Woods.

Rick Haag is gas welding during Mr. O'Brien's metal class using school equipment.

Jim Page, a junior, and Eddie Spencer, a junior, attentively watch Mr. O'Brien during metals class as he shows them how to cut threads for a boat they are making.

Ted Steger, a junior works diligently while he is sanding down his wood piece. He is using a spindle sander during Mr. Piepenbrinks woods class.

Jackie DeBolt, a senior, practices constructing circles for Mr. Todds Drafting class.

The Industrial Art Department is made up of Mr. R. Riank, Mr. G. Surber, Mr. C. O'Brien, Mr. M. Todd, and Mr. P. Piepenbrink.

Gymnastics, track and volleyball found enjoyable

Out for a morning jog? During spring and fall Miss Arnold known by the girls she has in class as 'Sis', had the girls run a mile after playing tennis. They also ran around the track.

The Girls Physical Education Department is headed by Miss Lenna Arnold with help from Ms. Ruth Longardner and Ms. Leslie Sawin.

This year there were classes offered in advanced physical education for juniors and seniors. Those classes included advanced gymnastics, dance, advanced physical education, and individual and team sports. In advanced gym, review of skills learned in sophomore classes and some new activities were introduced. The new activities included gymbowls, snow skiing, handball, and basic camping skills. In gymnastics, skills and routines were taught on all levels on the balance beam, floor exercise, vaulting, unevens and even bars, rings, trampoline, and mat tumbling. The dancing classes worked on modern dance, conditioning, modern gymnastics, and dancing with balls, wands, clubs, hoops, ropes, ribbons, and scarfs.

Sophomore Cheryl Coak gets ready to return the volleyball over the net during a game.

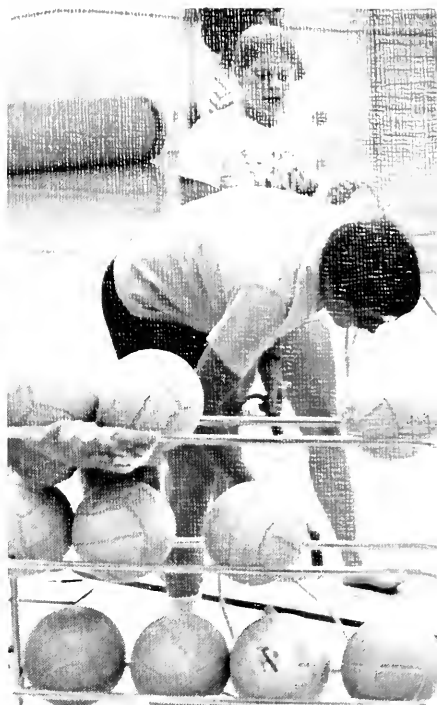

A race to the finish! Two girls run their hardest to see who will come in first in the mile. The girls often ran the mile after they played archery. They also have exercises they must do.

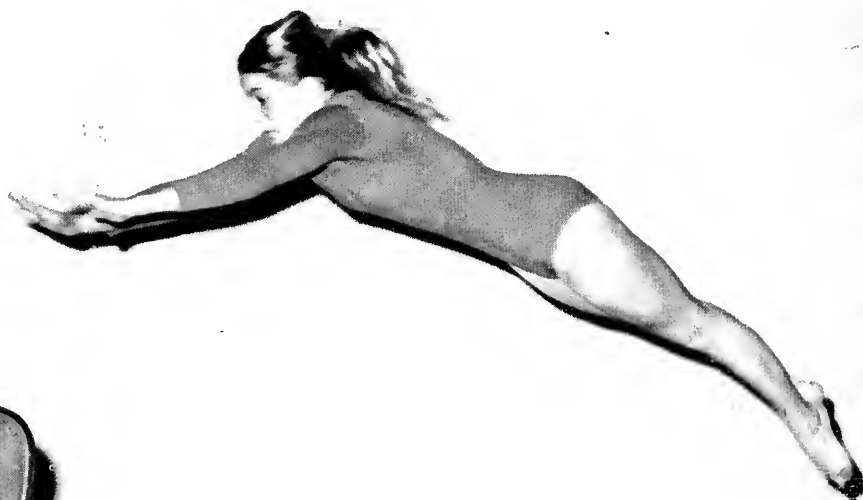

by girls in P.E. classes

Many students learned back handsprings on the mats. The girls worked hard on the gymnastics deck to do the best they could. They did many things on all of the equipment.

Ms. Ruth Longardner gets the volleyballs set up for a game during gym class.

Ammie Comparet, a junior, performs a layout squat on the vaulting horse. It is just one of the many things that can be done in vaulting. The other equipment on the gymnastics deck is all used during both the girls and boys gym classes. Gymnastics is fun for all who enjoy it.

Guys play all types of ball in gym class

Throwing a softball as a test in distance for boy's gym class.

Setting up offense and defense positions with the help of Mr. Tom in a basketball game during a boy's gym class.

After learning dribbling and passing skills the boys split up into squads under the supervision of Mr. Tom to try their hand at playing a game of basketball. Many such games are played in gym classes.

Before the weather changes the boys use the facilities of Northrop's baseball diamonds. Hitting the ball starts the entire cycle for a baseball game.

Northrop's gym staff is made up of: Mr. Thomas Tom, Head of Boys Gym, Mrs. Lenna Arnold, Head of Girls Gym, Mr. Jim Keim, Ms. Ruth Longardner, and Mr. Tom Herman.

With the help of Mr. Jim Keim and Mr. Tom Herman, Mr. Thomas Tom headed One of the best boys Physical Education departments in the city. They have many sports the guys participated in throughout the past year.

The sophomore boys are required to take one full semester of gym and are allowed to take a full year if they desire. Volleyball, badmitten, basketball, baseball gymnastics, track, and ping pong were among the many sports the boys participated in. The juniors and seniors were allowed to take a year of body building. The guys worked in the weight room to build up their muscles and they also ran around the track daily.

Mr. Thomas Tom and Mr. Tom Herman also had a Physical Education class for the guys this summer. The class was a body building class so the boys could have a chance to develop muscles they needed to for next years sports.

Administrative personnel always busy at work

Mr. Paul Spuller, known as "Papa Bruin" by all Northrop's students, found enjoyment in the busy tasks he performed as principal for Northrop during the past three years.

Mrs. Patricia Martone, Dean of Girls performed many tasks and counseled the girls.

Mr. Paul Spuller, "Papa Bruin," finished his third and final year as principal at Northrop High School this year. He enjoyed all three years very much.

Miss Sandra Todd, who was the assistant principal at North Side and will be Northrop's principal for the school year beginning with September of 1974.

The administrative staff helped keep the school running smoothly. There are many things that go on down in the administrative offices. Sophomores are counseled by Mrs. Donna Green, the juniors are counseled by Mr. Kip Ormerod, and the seniors are counseled by Mr. George Tricolas and Mr. Herb Banet. Mr. Mel Zehner is the Dean of Boys and Mrs. Patricia Martone is the Dean of Girls.

There are many secretaries down in the offices. They type all types of reports and letters and they also answer any incoming telephone calls and make connections for the outgoing calls.

They keep all of the Northrop students' files in order and they help the service workers with the attendance records. The secretaries also help the students and the teachers in any and every way possible.

Assistant Principal, Mr. Kent Kurtz, helped assist "Papa Bruin" throughout this past year. He also helped the students by giving the morning announcements.

helping students in the beehive

Northrop's Dean of Boys, Mr. Melvin Zehner, does many things. Some of his many tasks are watching the parking lot and halls. He also talks to the boys about any problems they may have.

Guidance Coordinator, Mr. George Tricolas helps seniors select colleges and gives advice.

Mr. Kip Omerod, Junior Guidance Counselor, helps juniors to choose their senior classes.

Senior Guidance Counselor, Herbert Banet, is always there when the seniors need counseling concerning class changes and future plans concerning college choices.

Administrative staff runs school

Athletic Director, Mr. Mark Schoeff, arranges Northrop's sports events, sells students and adult season tickets, and takes care of signing up students for driver's training.

Secretary, Mrs. Kay Bohlender, assists Mr. Spuller with typing many of his letters.

Mrs. Dorothy Long, in the main office types up many forms for the staff.

Mrs. Nancy Schiemann, Treasurer, handles the money which comes into or leaves Northrop.

smoothly and efficiently

Sophomore Guidance Counselor, Mrs. Green takes care and helps sophomore students when they need help in solving class or personal problems.

Mrs. Kuenek is in charge of sending and taking care of all IBM processed papers.

Mrs. Sally Grider, is often seen in the attendance office where she takes care of signing in and out of students.

Secretary, Lillian Nicoski, greets many of the students when they enter students service.

Mrs. Herge, the study hall clerk supervises students during their study hour in the study hall and also assists in the attendance office.

Mrs. Kilgore, works in student services helping students when they need to see a counselor of dean.

Mrs. Wilson, supervises students in the study halls and answers the phone in office.

Secretaries form important vital part of office staff

Mrs. Violet Wysong, helps in the office but during lunch hours supervises the students while they eat.

Mr. Spuller didn't always sit behind a desk because he had the opportunity to award trophies.

Mr. Kurtz and Mrs. Green imitate one of the prom court couples in a skit they performed.

The senior class for their Homecoming skit used "This is your File Papa Bruin" to honor Mr. Spuller.

Cooking and cleaning are all in a day's work for cooks and custodians

"Boss" Mary Alice Garman talks over the daily preparation of food with Nancy Pressley. The cooks prepare food for both a regular lunch and an à la carte line.

Serving over 2,500 students daily is a big part of the cook's job in the cafeteria.

Lunch has never ceased to surprise any student. Emily Newburn hands out the cook's brew

The cooking staff is made up of row 1: Bernice Oakman, Mary Garman, Agnew Fryer, Phyllis Thiene, row 2 is Ruth Hake, Dorothy Wetzel, Emily Newborn, Elvie Wessel. Row 3 consists of Betty Crocker, Alice Baney, Winney Hunter, and Feona Cochran.

Custodians Vearl Mowan and Richard Best are dedicated to keep Northrop halls clean.

Two of the most underestimated groups at Northrop High School are the cooks and the custodians. These men and women are very dedicated to their work and too the school. Each day they work hard to provide students with a lunch or to keep our school clean.

This year the cooks and custodians showed their spirit for the basketball team in many ways. The cooks always wore orange uniforms and had a display of the team. The custodians always helped put up signs. Many of the cooks and custodians went to the games and cheered the team on to a state victory.

We owe a great deal of thanks to our great help at Northrop. Not only for their work but for their spirit which helps Northrop to be Number 1.

Keeping Northrop beautiful is a part of the daily job of the custodians.

Even though school is out for students, the custodians keep on working preparing for the next year.

Students help school by

Many students work very hard to find research material for assigned reports for classes.

assisting librarians and running A.V. equipment

Northron's students aren't always quiet in the library. Here are four sophomores who might be discussing school happenings. A large number of students could be observed discussing books.

Northrop's library is one of the best libraries in the state. The school has tens of thousands of books in the library. The subjects range from Astronomy to Zoology. Students use the library materials for both research materials and for leisure reading. Students can also use cassettes, records, and film strips. Mr. Kenneth Crague, head of the library, is assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Lombard who helps keep everything in working order.

Mr. Don Weaver, head of the Audio-Visual Department, helps Mr. Crague choose the A.V. equipment needed by the school. Mr. Weaver also taught students how to use the A.V. equipment.

Many students work in the library during one of their study halls.

Students help each other by discussing each others' material and giving their opinions.

New class specializes in helping students

Ms. Nancy Timma was the head of the Special Education department this year. The students in this class don't learn quite as fast as most students but they do learn at their own pace. Ms. Timma helped these students learn things necessary to life.

The Special Ed class wasn't one of your every day classes. Everyone wasn't sitting in their desks asleep with the teacher talking away. These students took duck eggs and put them in an incubator. They observed the eggs each day and they also watched the eggs hatch. After the eggs hatched, the Special Ed students raised the baby ducks. They fed them daily and also held and cared for them. Through this experience, the students learned about life. They watched new lives come into the world and raised them so that they could live on their own.

The Special Ed students also raised plants and they helped out in the kitchen by doing the dishes during Northrop's lunch modules.

Ms. Timma and three students in the Special Ed class held the baby ducks they raised.

help themselves

Lisa Smith, a sophomore, observes some of the things that the Special Ed students have raised. The students also helped in the kitchen. They helped wash dishes and put them away. They learned many things this past year and they also hatched and raised baby ducks.

Games are rehearsals for life.

Sports is a proving ground that can and will help us all. It doesn't matter if you are a burley gridder, a lankey cager, a speedy harrier, or a rabid fan.

Competing or following competition will teach us to win gracefully and to lose when the time comes.

Bruins terminate hard fought season

The mighty Bruin Harriers finished the 1973 season with a perfect 22-0 record. Led by John Magley, Ron Ruich, John Bannister, and Mike Henry, they continued on to win the Summit Athletic Conference, captured first place in Sectionals, and placed second in Regional competition.

Practice began for some thirty runners on Monday, August 6, after putting many miles of running, they were finally ready for their first run against East Noble.

Northrop had few problems with injuries until John Magley was lost in the Sectional Meet. By the brilliant running of Ron Ruich, John Bannister, Mike Henry, Bob Davis, and Vic Getts, who all finished in the top ten, Northrop easily captured Sectionals.

At the Regional meet the Bruins made a good showing by placing second to Elkhart Central, who later went on to win state.

In the state meet the harriers again showed their skill as they placed ninth against a field of outstanding runners. Ron Ruich was our first runner to cross the finish line.

Coach Peterson felt this was one of the best teams to come from Northrop and to have another great season without losing a match.

Ron and Randy Ruich set the pace for Northrop at a meet run at Shoaff Park, John Bannister and John Magley follow close behind as the foursome stride into the winning lane

Coach Peterson makes sure that the runners get loosened up before they take on another team.

Buzz's Brawny Bruin Bunch is Brutal

Senior Jim Brenner carries the ball in an attempt to score in the North Side game.

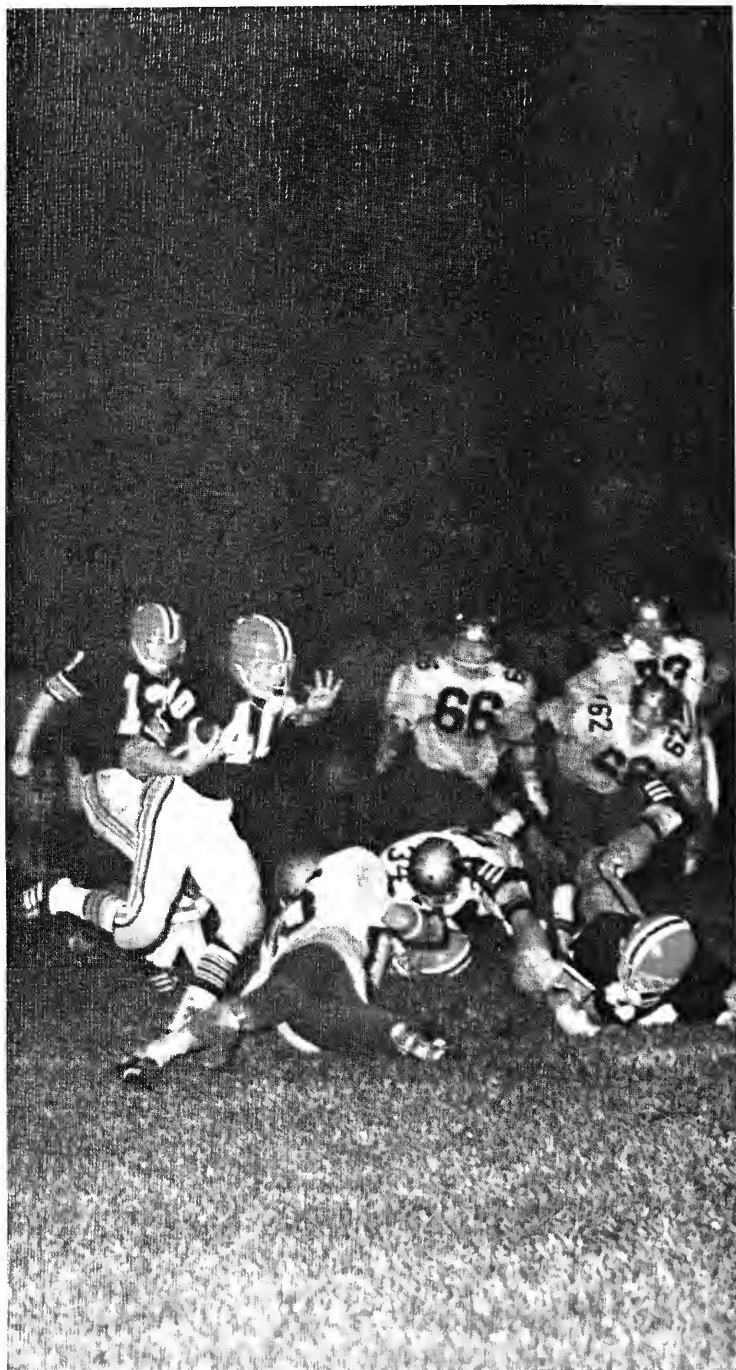

Buzz's Brawny Bruin Bunch is Brutal, that was just one of the sayings that was heard around Northrop. Coach Doerffler, Northrop's head football coach, led his Bruin Bunch against nine different teams and came up with eight victories. The only team to beat Northrop was Bishop Dwenger, the Saints came up with a 23-7 victory.

The entire team was led by Senior Leadership. Coach Doerffler felt that without the seniors, the team wouldn't be together as a whole.

But as entire team, the Bruins scored an average of 31.7 points per game. The opponents scored an average of 7.7 points per game against the Bruins.

When the football season rolled to an end, it wasn't the end for the Northrop players. When the North Division All Stars were selected, Northrop had seven players chosen for the North Division Team. After the All City Team was chosen Northrop placed six players on the team. Finally, All State Recognition was at hand, three defensive men were selected by UPI while two were honoured by being chosen by AP.

The entire team had many accomplishments throughout the year, these accomplishments would not be possible without the great Coach Doerffler.

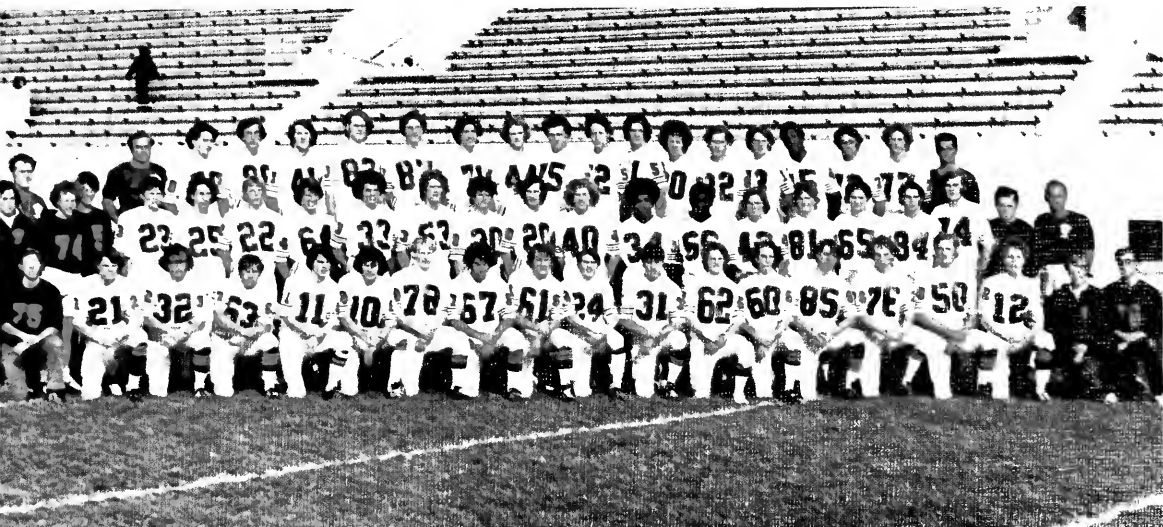

Quarterback Craig Klein hands off to Jim Brenner who finds a hole in the Bishop Dwenger line.

Stan Pressley is shown hicking the ball to senior quarterback Craig Klein in the game against the Concordia Cadets. Northrop went on to win the game by the score of 37 to 6.

Head football coach Buzz Doerffler and assistant coaches Joe Magnesmith and Howard Schneider gave many dedicated hours of work for the 8-1 season.

The student managers were Charles Combs, Jim Nemeth, Ed Stange, Brad Lemna, Dan Schaab, and Bob Watson.

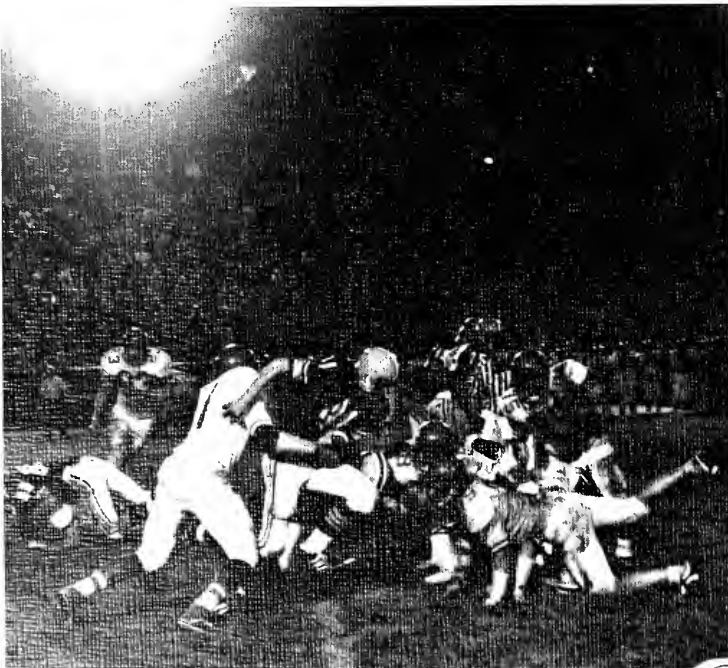

Jim Murdock and Dennis Hetrick were elected as co-captains of the team. The most valuable players were, for offensive lineman Ernie Bojrab and back Jim Brenner, and for defensive lineman Dennis Hetrick and back Jim Rosselot. Coach Doerffler commented that "we have the kind of team that rises to the needed occasion."

Coach Doerffler commented that this years football team was the finest ever associated with and that "the key to success was that the Senior Leadership, and I think this years team truly symbolized what teamwork, dedication, sacrifice, and pride mean in being a winner. The football players, but more important as young men."

Coach Doerffler gives the varsity football team a few pointers on what to expect from Oakhill's offense in the second half. Northrop went on to beat Oakhill 43-0.

Coach Omerod tells his team what to expect the second half against Dwenger.

The reserve football team's season started on August 15 and ended October 29.

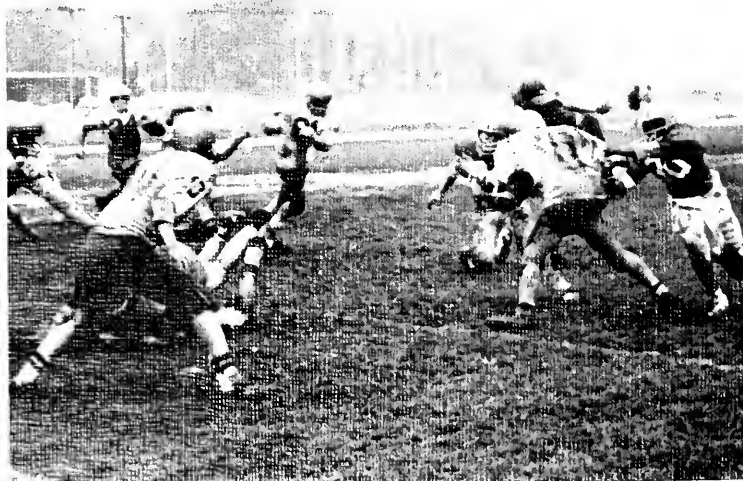

Coach Omerod felt that they had a very successful season even though two of their five games was cancelled out by the other team.

An old rivalry was played against Bishop Dwenger. Playing their best game against them because no reserve team from Northrop had defeated Bishop Dwenger. The team dropped the Saints with a 6-0 score.

Coach Omerod commented that "I look forward to the next two years with these guys because they had the right mental attitude and a whole lot of talent."

Coach Bob Dille seems shocked by a call at a game at the coliseum.

Near the base line senior Mike Muff gets set to go up against a Concordia Cadet.

Senior guard Tony Casso goes for the layup while Maurice Drinks is set for the possible rebound.

It was on October 1 when the Bruins came out for the 1973-74 varsity basketball squad.

From this group of men came 14 players for the varsity team. Coach Dille along with assistant Coach Stavreti selected these men to play the North Side Redskins in the first game of the season.

The Bruins went on to defeat the Redskins in the season opener. The team defeated its next opponent DeKalb. Then the Bruins suffered the first loss to South Bend Adams.

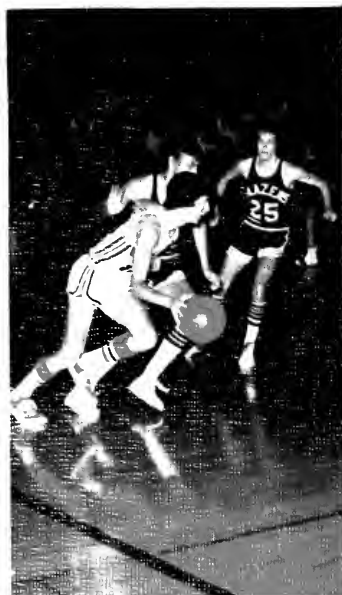

The varsity squad went on to a victorious winning streak, winning the next 17 games in regular season play. The Summit Athletic Conference Title was won as the team defeated the South Side Archers who was also in contention for the city title. This was the first city championship that was won by Northrop.

Mike Muff and Walter Jordan were selected at times a "Player of the Week" by the News' Sentinels throughout the year as Dille was also named several times throughout the year, Coach "Coach of the Week" by the News Sentinel.

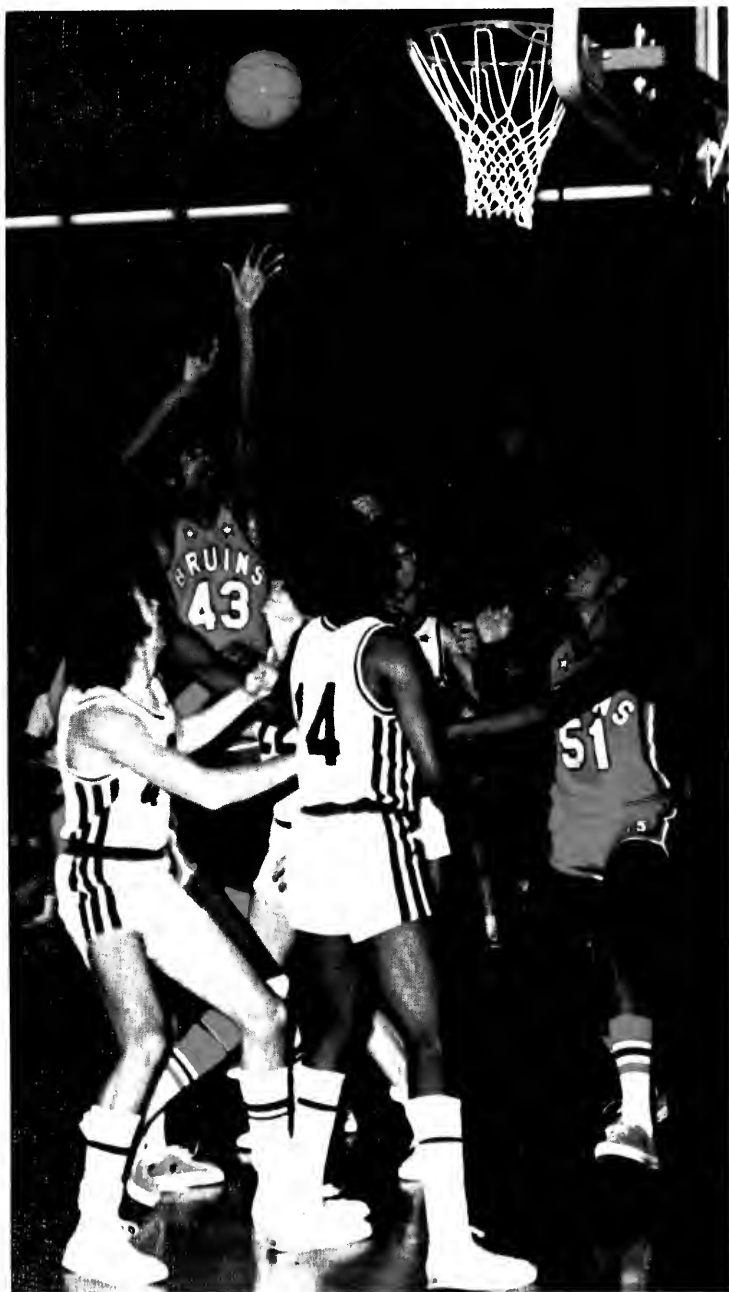

The frustration and hard work of the game is shown on the face of Walter Jordan.

Coach Dille: "28-1 season, can't help but be pleased"

Junior cager James Wimbley shoots over the heads of the Concordia Cadets in an effort to score two points. Mike Muff gets set under the boards to get the possible rebound.

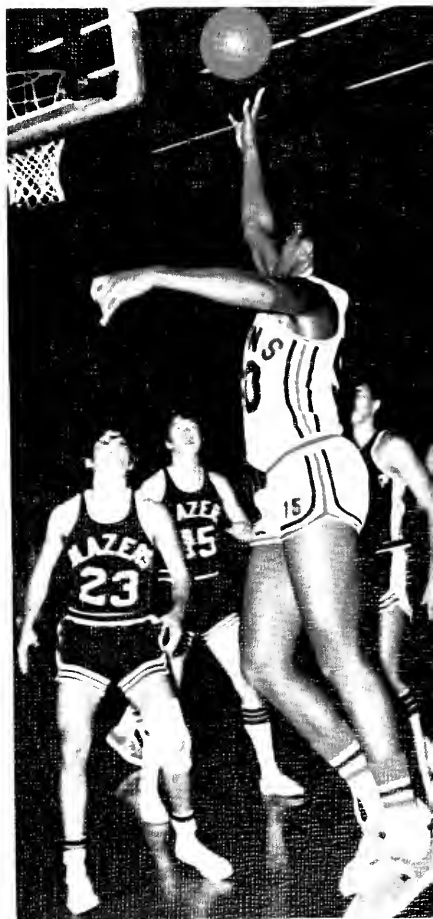

The 1973-74 state basketball champs consists of row 1. Managers Charles Combs and Jeff Pepple, Craig Klein, Neal Pntt, Tom Madden, Mike Hale, Dennis Hetrick, Willy Spencer, Luke Mitchell. Row 2 starts with Assistant Coach Stavreti, Mike Suttle, James Wimbley, Mike Muff, Maurice Drinks, Dennis Beck, Walter Jordan, Mark Fredricks, Assistant Coach Kiem and Head Coach Robert Dille.

Center Maurice Drinks, and Forwards Mike Muff and Walter Jordan surround an Elkhart Blue Blazer in an attempt to keep him from scoring. Northrop went on to defeat Elkhart 52 to 32.

The Bruin starting line-up consisted of 6-10 center Maurice Drinks, forwards Mike Muff who averaged more than 20 points a game and 6-4 Jim Wimbley who scored nearly 8 points a game. At the guard positions were 5-10 Tom Madden and 6-6 Walter Jordan who scored nearly 19 points per game.

The most points scored at any time was against Marion, The team dropped the Giants 92-64. The lowest scoring game was against the Carroll Chargers. The Bruins scored 47 points while they held the Chargers to just 34 points. This was the final game of the regular season play which ended with 19 victories and 1 loss.

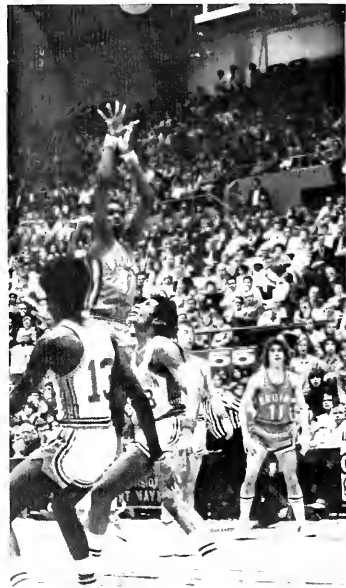

Center Mike Muff goes over the heads of the Blazers to tip in two more points.

James Wimbley shoots over an opponent during Sectional play against Harding.

"Whenever you have a 28-1 season you can't help but be pleased," stated Coach Bob Dillie. "Our defensive average was 49.6 which proves that the boys play excellent defense. They were in excellent condition, easy to work with, dedicated, and above all they had the will to win."

In Sectional play Northrop beat Harding, Woodlan, and Carroll. At the Regional level Northrop defeated South Side, the winner of Sectional 1, and DeKalb. In Semi-State we played and defeated both Logansport and Anderson. Coach Dillie felt that the Anderson game was the best game of the tournament play.

At State, Northrop beat Lafayette Jeff and Jeffersonville. When asked how he felt about winning state Coach Dillie said, "It's a real happy experience, an unbelievable wonderful feeling. We were playing to win it for not only Ft. Wayne but the entire surrounding area. I hope every coach has the chance to go through and win state."

Teamwork brings reserves winning season

At the beginning of the 1973-74 reserve basketball season, there were 40 men that came out for the team. After a few weeks of practice Coach Stavreti cut down to 16 players. Coach Stavreti felt that Joe Helmkamp was the strongest player they had.

There were three student managers that helped the team and they were Marcus Mitchell, Jeff Pepple and Bob Watson.

Coach Stavreti comment on the season was, "This year was very rewarding to me. The people that played reserve ball never quit trying and their attitude was good. This always makes Coaching much more fun."

Coach Stavreti ended the season with a 13-7 record.

Coach Keim felt that Bob Nard was the strongest player on this year's team. He felt that his best games were against South Side and East Noble, of which they won both. Coach Keim felt that this year was not the best, but this might be the best group of sophomores.

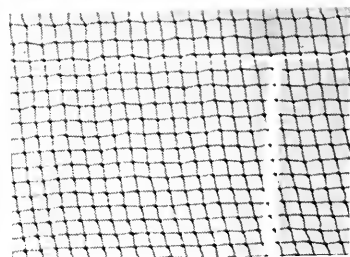

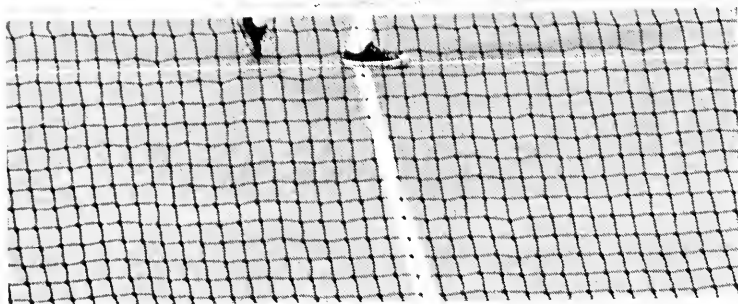

Coach Keim's comments on the season were: "we have a lot of young talents on this team. The future could be very bright if they all work hard enough maybe we could be at state again."

The sophomores finished with an 8-2 season.

Second row: Dale Trainer, Tim Speshyock, Mike Brink, Tim Burke, Jon Brelje, Mark Fredricks, Jeff Stratton, Bruce Lachot, Kip Steeg, Mike Ullman, and Mr. Keim.

Junior Mike Beer is practicing for his singles match.

As the 1973 Bruin tennis season came to an end, the netman had earned another winning season with eight wins and six losses. In the Summit Athletic Conference the team had gained six victories and three defeats.

A total of eight players made the varsity team this year. Playing number one number two singles most of the season were Jon Brelje and Brad Oren. The number one and number two in doubles were played by Mike Beer and Jon Brelje, and Brad Oren and Lex Oren. The other players on the varsity team were Mark Fredericks, Tom Bunner, Tim Burke, and team captain Jeff Stratton.

The season was summed up by a statement made by Coach Keim. "This season was not our best year because we were not strong as in the singles or doubles as last year, the team gave their 110% in playing and that is what I expect."

Coach Herman was assisted by Coach Danley and Coach Waleen. Herman felt that Dave Herrick was the best grappler this year. Dave had a 20-2 record along with being Sectional champ and Regional Runner-up. Dave wrestled at 101 pounds.

Coach Herman felt that their best meet was against Goshen which they won 31-18. The team captains were Dave Herrick, Mike Henry, and Rich Kneer.

The team finished with a 9-5 record. In the Belmont Tourney the team got third and in the Sectional Tourney they finished fifth.

Senior grappler, Joe Maupin is shown struggling to stop his opponents attempt at a reversal.

Dave Herrick strains to gain the advantage as the referee makes sure that no violations occur.

Under the direction of Coach Danley and Coach Walleen, the 1973-74 reserve wrestling team finished with a 13-2-0 record.

The first meet was held on December 4. Those grapplers who didn't wrestle varsity, wrestled reserve. Coach Walleen felt that there was no best grappler. He stated that "there were too many that worked and gave their best effort."

Coach Walleen commented "someone that is new to wrestling or has very little experience has a lot to learn to compete at the varsity level. They learn at the reserve level with a lot of help from varsity wrestlers in their weight class."

Roy Mills carries the baton to Bob Davis in the two mile relay that was held at North Side H.S.

The Bruin trackmen began their season on the first Monday of December. Approximately 65 guys went out. Head coach Barry Peterson and assistant coaches Omerod and V. Allen turned them into a winning team.

The year Northrop was favored with many outstanding athletes in several events: Mike Roberts in the hurdles, Mike Hale and Rosie Tubbs in the sprints, Vic Getts and Mike Henry in the mid-distance runs, John Bannister and Bob Davis in the mile, Tom Weick in the discus and shot putt, and Gary Hunter and Brian Kimball in the pole vault event.

The team fared well in the regular season meets with a 8 and 2 record, and placed second in sectionals and third in regionals.

According to Coach Peterson the team had a successful season because they improved as the season progressed.

The 1974 golf season started following spring vacation. There were 27 men that reported for tryouts and from these, 11 made the team. Five men were selected for the varsity team while six bruins went on the reserve team.

Coach Dornte felt that Tom Drake was the most improved player. Al Martin led the team throughout the year as low man.

The best match this year was against the Wayne Generals. the bruin duffers went on to defeat the Generals.

With only 1 returning varsity player returning for next year. Mr. Dornte has hopes for a fresh new team with this years reserve team.

Mr. Dornte felt that a 11-7-3 record wasn't bad he felt that the team might of done better but he was pleased with this years results.

At the beginning 55 Bruins went out for the team. Later 26 players were selected while only 18 dressed for the games.

Assistant coach Howard Schneider helped along with student managers Charles Combs, Jeff Pepple, and Bucky White.

Coach Stavreti felt the year had alot of experience this year and along with the good pitching staff helped to accomplish a winning season.

Craig Klein led the offense with his excellent hitting and fielding. Bill Patten was outstanding in pitching this year with an ERA of 0.23.

The team as a whole received another SAC crown with an 8-1 record. The only city conference loss was to Concordia. The other 2 losses were suffered against Huntington and South Side which did not count in the SAC.

The team went into sectionals by defeating Bishop Dwenger, Concordia and Bishop Luers. The team went to Columbia City for the regional match.

The Bruins defeated DeKalb 6 to 2 in the first game and the second game was won by Elmhurst. With the combined efforts of pitchers Randy Potts, Bill Patten and Dave Bienz the Bruins were unable to beat Elmhurst in the final game. Elmhurst won 5 to 3.

Miss Longardner, coach for this years volleyball team led the team to a 4-9 record.

Miss Longardner had two team managers that helped the team throughout the year. Malinda Linn and Debra Faye Williams. Marianne Ferraro and Deb Chevillet led the team as the best all around players.

"The team didn't play as well as a whole but we had some close matches, I was fairly satisfied with the team players." Miss Longardner felt that Concordia was the strongest match that they played. Northrop defeated Concordia 15-8, 15-7. The people returning will be a good nucleus to begin next years team.

Gina Sparks spikes the ball to the opponents while Carolyn Rish watches to see if the ball gets blocked.

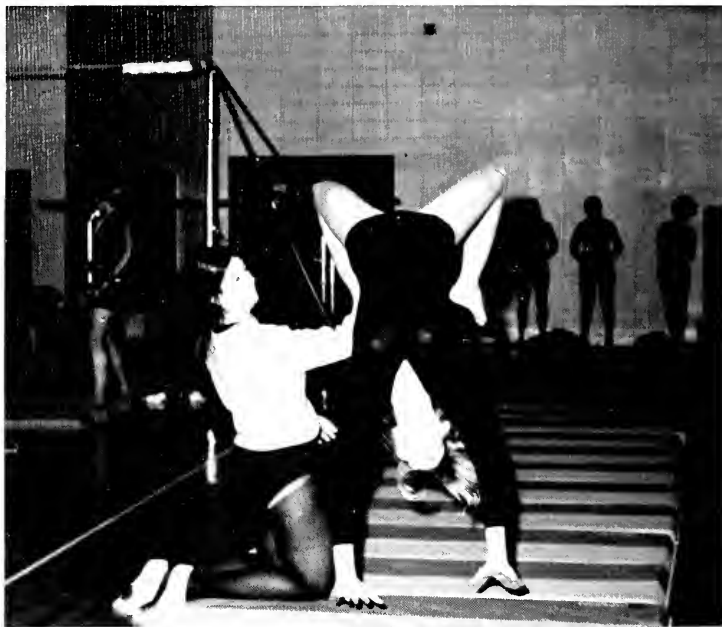

Intramurals shows teamwork and a time

Intramurals for the 1973-74 year was sponsored by Mr. Tom. Intramurals was for anyone interested in coming. Gymnastics started in September and lasted through out the year. There were usually around 30 people who came. They worked on the balance beam, uneven parallel bars, trampoline, and tumbling.

There were 268 guys that came out for the basketball team. From these 21 teams were made up with 8 on each team. The Panama Reds were the champions.

In volleyball there was a best two out of three tournament. The Bullets beat the Syrian Chickens capturing the championship.

Coaches skill gains Ben Tenny award

The coaches here at Northrop for the 1973-1974 season have developed their teams that broke old records and made new ones.

These coaches made Northrop known throughout the state of Indiana.

With the dedication, skill, knowledge and leadership of these coaches and assistant coaches provided Northrop with three S.A.C. crowns, three sectional titles, 2 regional victories, 1 semi-state win and 1 state championship. (At this time the baseball team has not been defeated and is still in contention for the state crown).

The reserve cheerleaders mount up, bottom to top is Susan MacDonald, Glenda Ross, Diane Hoffman, Cindy Beery, Carolyn Rishi, Karen Gaines, Gina Sparks, and Kathy Bruce.

There was 80 girls who tried out for cheerleading. The judges cut it down to 45 girls, they then made a final cut down to 24 girls. There are 3 squads, Varsity, reserve, and "C" team. The captain on the Varsity is Marianne Ferraro, the captain of the Reserve team is Cindy Berry and the captain of the "C" team is Pam Mandos.

Their sponsors are Mrs. Carol Harter and Miss Vickie Whisler who would help the cheerleaders to plan the pep sessions for the student body. They kept the spirit going all year in school, especially when the going gets rough at the Basketball games. They also kept the spirit going so the team could have support to win games for our school.

Pam Mason shows her excitement while leading the students in a varsity cheer.

With a happy smile the varsity cheerleaders do their thing to boost up the spirit.

Bruins show spirit through pep sessions

The beginning of the 1973-74 pep sessions started with the football jamboree. We might have lost a game, but we never once lost the spirit. Throughout the season, whether in football or basketball, the Bruins never let down their team.

There were times of great joy and then we had our moments of sadness. One of the biggest boasts of school spirit was the time, in basketball when the basketball team defeated Anderson in Semi-State.

Tom Cambell of Channel 21 sports came to back the mighty Northrop Bruins.

This seems to be the most fun the team has had all year, but could this be the future state champs?

The junior class of 1975 of Northrop High School will always have as a memory going to state. An experience that happens "maybe" once in a life time.

Though it was their second year, juniors gained new knowledge of life, probed their inner selves and searched their souls for the answer to lifes problems. With these problems they have gained the experience of how to cope, and how to help a friend in need.

Acting as President for the junior class was Dan Turner, Vice President, Sue Bannister, Secretary-Treasurer, Diane Hoffman, and Rose Arnold, Social chairman. Help in sponsoring and advising for the junior class were Mr. Howie Schneider, chairman, Mrs. Darlene Yoquelet, Mr. Robert Johnson, and Mrs. Ann Brudney.

Some of the activities that the juniors took part in were helping with the decorations for the prom, and getting a team ready for the Powder Puff football game.

Rick Glover, Kirby Scheimann, and Tim Burke liven up the Bonfire by their humorous jokes.

Often with the pressures of getting new responsibilities with getting school work done, were the pressures of social affairs at Northrop. Sophomores supported the activities at Northrop will, and even gave their full support at the pep sessions, that were held throughout the year.

Sophomores found out that getting involved helped to ease the sometime lonely feeling. To help raise money for their class and for the sophomore activity, the class officers and advisors sponsored a sophomore movie with the Jazz band playing at it.

Helping to advise and look after some sophomore activities were Max Thrasher, chairman, Mrs. Marge Slabach, Mr. Cliff O'Brian, and Mrs. Shirley Williams. Coming up with suggestions were Rick Glover, President, Tim Burke, Vice-President, Julie Ellison Treasure, Gail Armstrong, Secretary, and Bruce Perkins Social Chairman.

Northrop Twirlers add a spark of class

The twirlers worked with the marching band as displayed by this half time routine.

to pregame and halftime shows

Displaying her routine with a spark of fire is Senior twirler Teresa Marshall.

Twirler try-outs for the 1973-'74 season were held last spring and sponsored by Mrs. Swain. The girls that tried out were judged on poise, grace, twirling ability, and a nice smile. The girls were required to have a B- average and perform a marching routine, a standard routine, and an original routine of their own. The four girls that were chosen the '73-'74 Northrop twirlers were: senior Teresa Marshall and juniors Jana Mouglin, Cher Skinner, and Sheryl Marks.

Throughout the year the girls not only performed at football and basketball games, but participated in several contests as well. Some of the contests were the Drum Majorites of American in April, NISBOVA in October where they placed first, and other contests at Anderson in April and one at Northrop in May.

For a money making project the twirlers sold spirit corsages. The twirlers had to work hard to get their routines ready, but there was also time for fun.

Using a firey baton this twirler displays her halftime routine.

Pom-Pon girls and Twirlers worked hard together to perfect routines for halftime shows, but they also had time to relax and ring the victory bell at the games.

The Northrop Bruin Pom-Pon Squad was chosen during the month of May 1973. Twenty-four girls made the squad. Captains picked were Sarah Yoder, senior; Brenda Parrish and Pam Collins, juniors. Under the direction of Mrs. Sawin the girls started early in the year by practicing during the summer. A few visited New Haven and Tri-State Camps to learn new routines.

In August, the squad along with the band went to Band Camp. They learned the half-time shows for football season and to march in straight lines.

During basketball season, orange and white pom-poms flashed throughout the gym at half-time to songs such as "Shaft" and "Smoke on the Water." So, if by chance you wandered through the halls 6th period and wondered what all the commotion was down in the gym...well it was a lively bunch of Northrop Pom-Pon girls!

The Pre-game show is highlighted by the familiar "N" formation. Bruins fans sing the Northrop fight song along with Bernie Bruin, Cheerleaders, and the Pom-Pon girls.

This seems to have been a lucky cheer for the dedicated cheerblock. They attended all home games and tourney games. Excitement wasn't always what it should have been, but as the year progressed and everyone got familiar with the cheers, the excitement mounted until at the Anderson game, it exploded! The officers for this years block were: Rosie Stadlemeyer, Jeannie Richards, Katy Lehman, Cindy Kreienbdink. Sponsors for thte group were: Mrs. Jennings, Mrs. Allen, and Mrs. Robins. The sponsors and the girls worked hard to show they were proud to be BRUINS!

Juniors and Seniors gain experience

Shown above are the junior members of Distribute Education. With the help of senior members and their officers, they learned new skills and developed new techniques that will help them in their senior year and in the future.

Distributive Education is a cooperative vocational program designed for students with an interest in business in job distribution. The requirement is a genuine interest in business and a good attendance record.

The officers for the Senior class were: Pres. Deb Rennecher, Vice Pres. Sue Kimes, Sec. Deb Burkholder, Treas. Pam Shaw, Reporter. Stephanie Thomas. The Junior class officers were: Pres. Tim Armstrong, Vice Pres. Sue Smith, Sec. Rene Melvin, Treas. Maryanne Rochine, Reporter, Kay Farlow.

Officers for this year were: Pres. Debbie Smith, Vice Pres. Debbie Beuerforder, Sec., Chris Nichols, Historian— Kathy Little, Treasurer— Jennie Ennis, Parliamentarian— Kathy Jones.

The students entered the contest of their choice on the regional level. If they were successful, they advanced to State; and then possibly to National competition. Fund raising projects were limited to earn enough money to cover the costs for a large banquet held at the end of the school year.

Junior Classical League is an international group. There are 26 members in our Northrop group. They meet on the third Wednesday of each month.

The officers this year were active to help get the many activities going. After a short business meeting, there was a program relating to the Romans; then refreshments.

The JCL's of Northrop were an active group this year. They were invited to attend the Cena Romana (a Roman dinner sponsored by the JCL). Also a picnic was held in May.

Students from Northrop attended an annual gathering out at Wayne. It was open to all students in the Ft. Wayne area. After an opening ceremony, Caesar opens the games, which include chariot races, discus throwing, balancing for girls, obstacle course, the booths put up by the schools are open. All kinds of food and even some games are sold.

In opening ceremonies, students participating were; Steve Norris, as Caesar Dave Schnapp as the priest; Vestables were, Debbie Partin, Carol Anders, Wendy Witte, Ellen Helmreich, Ketta Nanna, Sharon Knersel; Slaves were, Colleen Gunder, Carla Cook, and Ed Kikasa. The poster contest was won by Kathy Stewart and Kathy Waddell. Dave Schnapp won a prize for the best priest costume.

Members of the Northrop Speech team went to many of the meets held around the Ft. Wayne and surrounding area. Many of the members placed high in these meets.

Though Northrop wasn't represented in the sectional Speech meet, it placed three people in the regional contest. Each giving a different talk were, Ola Ray giving hers on poetic interpretation. Max Mertz extemporaneous, and Bart Buechner's was a discussion. Bart was placed in state and was a semi-final runner-up.

To help raise money for need things for the Club, each of the members sold incense.

Helping the students to better themselves were Mr. Wayne Brown, Mr. Walter Cook, and Mr. Bill Brown.

Time & hard work make A.V. run smoothly

Who takes care of our A.V. equipment? The Audio-Visual people that number 30 in all, boys and girls alike. They have the whole A.V. programs to operate.

Some of the things that they do to make the program run smoothly are: Video Studio and cleaning heads on tape recorders to make thermal masters.

The club met the first Wednesday of every month but had daily work chores.

Some special duties are taping most athletic activities and other events such as etc, 74. Each person had a specific assignment.

The officers were: Jim Phillips-Chief Operator, Doug Cupp-Ass't Chief Operator, Tina Hatcher-Chief Operations, Joe Bissonette-Chief of Maintenance, and Lynn Willer-Chief of Productions.

As money-making projects this year the club taped chemistry chapter reviews and mounted pictures and poems.

Working the headliner machine is academic editor Terry Offord.

Two more pages done and only 253 more to go, gee I'm happy seems, to be Brad Lusk feelings.

Barb Jasinski watches Mary Crumback as she shows Cathy the correct procedure in the yearbook.

Bear Tracks is the total of a lot of real effort and hard work by many people. It is not just the editors, though Brad Lusk and Jody Weimer have put in countless and long hours and have stamped this book with their touch.

It is not just the section editors, though Terry Offord, Sue Ake, Sara Hill, Mary Crumback, Thersa Fischer, Clarita Rhea, Cathy Wilkerson, and Renee Gunder are no doubt proud of the work they have done to make the book what it is.

Indeed, it is not even the staff. Betty York, Pauline Kohls, Cheryl Sanders, Nancy Brown, Sandy Bienz, Renee Faulk, or Vicki Visick, Judy Kemp, Colleen Cullen, Lore Kelsaw, Barb Jasinski, Cindy Hough, or Liz Wize put a stamp of themselves in the Bear Tracks, but it still is more than a total of everyone who works on it and it is more than a total of everything that all the staff puts into it.

A yearbook is a special case there two plus two can and does often total more in many aspects than the sum of its parts. It is more than the sum because it is a whole year in the life of many people, it is all of the joy and sorrow that that year had in it for everyone. It is winning and losing and it is a great deal more.

This is the yearbook published by the last of the originals for the last of the originals and we hope that you like it.

What's Bruin changes form of printing

Senior Doris Butler seems displeased with the headliner after the machine ate it.

Change was the watch word for the 'What's Bruin' as the paper staff took on the tasks of setting all their own copy, graphs for the printer. This is the first year that the paper went to off set printing and also marked the paper becoming a tabloid.

Senior leadership was provided by Doris Butler, Karen Davis, and Kelley Peirce. They soon had Cindy Lambert, Steve Elmer, Pat Mertz, Bill Coleman, and Bob Landolfi ready to join original editors Scott Zook and Hank Hankey as juniors were page editors of assistant page editors.

Photog's shoot their way through

Have you ever wondered what happened to the film you shoot in your camera and then take to the Drug store? Well, there is a select group of people around Northrop who don't have to guess, they know.

They are the publications' photographers and they take and process all the pictures that go into the school newspaper and the school yearbook. Most of them have been working since they were sophs or juniors, but some were able to join as seniors due to having experience from being serious hobbyist photographers.

This year the photo staff was lead by the seniors Kurt Wallenstein, Steve Norris, and Charlie Turner. Steve was the winner of an award sponsored by Root Photographers as the student photographer of the year.

Most of the equipment is owned by the school, but the photographers usually are more content using their own cameras as they are more familiar with them. There are completely equipped darkrooms for the developing of negatives and the printing of pictures. The printing darkroom is shared with the science department.

As usual, when a number of people have to work together and share facilities, there is some confusion, but by the end of the year, everyone can see an improvement in their own work and abilities.

The 1973-74 photo staff is made up of Mark Fredrick, Karen Gains, Karen Dunbar, standing is Mke Tator, Steve Norris, Kurt Wallenstein, and Mark Tinnis.

Typists form backbone of journalism

Publications advisor Mr. Jim Sweeney addresses the publications banquet.

Junior Sheryl Johnson works diligently hard at typing copy for the "Bear Tracks" yearbook.

Change came to the Northrop Publication department in a big way this year. Two of IBM's composers were purchased by the publications to let the newspaper and the yearbook set their own copy. This means that in a few years when these machines are paid for, the cost for publications is due for some cutting, and the product to the student is going to be expanded.

Educationally, this also means that those students in the journalism and publication program are getting more learning experiences.

Kevin Sweeney, Ava Fox, Cindy Hall, Tim Hatcher, Jo Ann Horn, Sheryl Johnston finished up the year as the Composer staff. Kevin Sweeney won the Spuller Service Award for Publications.

People are always original, but some are more original than others.
Like take the Bruins. Until this year,
Bruins had once been Tigers, and Panthers, and even Redskins,
but now everyone is pure,
100% Bruins.

In the student body, the seniors are celebrating being last of the

'76 is the first class to reach

It seems strange that anyone as fantastic as our class of 1976 would be confused and scared, but that was the case. At least a few days. Northrop was so big and sprawling after the junior high that the change was quite a shock.

One of the big projects during the year was the sophomore flicks, a Laurel and Hardy comedy was presented one Friday night that attracted a good number of students and dates.

Later in the year, the class of '76 pulled the coup of the year by getting three of the sophomores elected to the Student Council offices for next year. Rick Glover will be the first junior to be SC president. Tim Burke will be the first junior vice-president, and Pam Hawkins the first junior to serve as secretary-treasurer.

The class of '76 proved to have the real "Spirit of '76" as we won cheering contest during the pep sessions, but as the old saying goes, give us two more years, cause you ain't seen nothing yet!

One more year to go;

Tim Speshyock made his bid for junior class president, but was defeated by Dan Turner.

As the '73-'74 school year comes to a close the class of 1975 moves from the spot of intermediate juniors to top notch senior. Although they look ahead to being the next senior class, their junior year can never be forgotten.

As junior the class of '75 was led by Dan Turner (pres.). Dan was assisted in class duties by Sue Bannister (vice-pres.), and Rose Arnold (social chairman). They were faced with the big task as other junior classes have been of sponsoring the Jr-Sr Prom. The officers started the ball rolling by deciding upon the theme "Colour My World." To help and guide the juniors as in other activities were the junior class sponsors, Mr. Schneider and Mrs. Yoquelet.

Although juniors have made it this far, how many will stick it out till the end of next year?

'75 class officers: Dan Turner-president, Diana Hoffman-secretary-treasurer, Rose Arnold-social chairman, and Sue Bannister-vice-president.

The first signs of a new school year for juniors and others begin with pre-registration.

'74 is the first class to go all

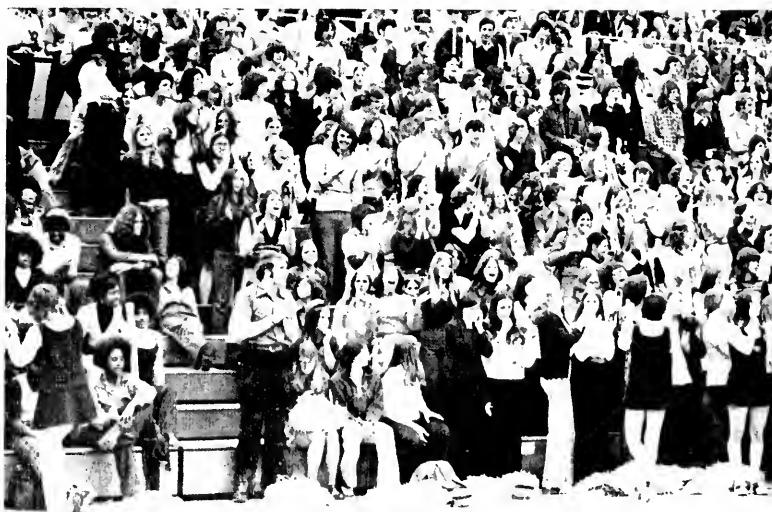

Jeff Stratton is one to follow any current fad, even streaking.

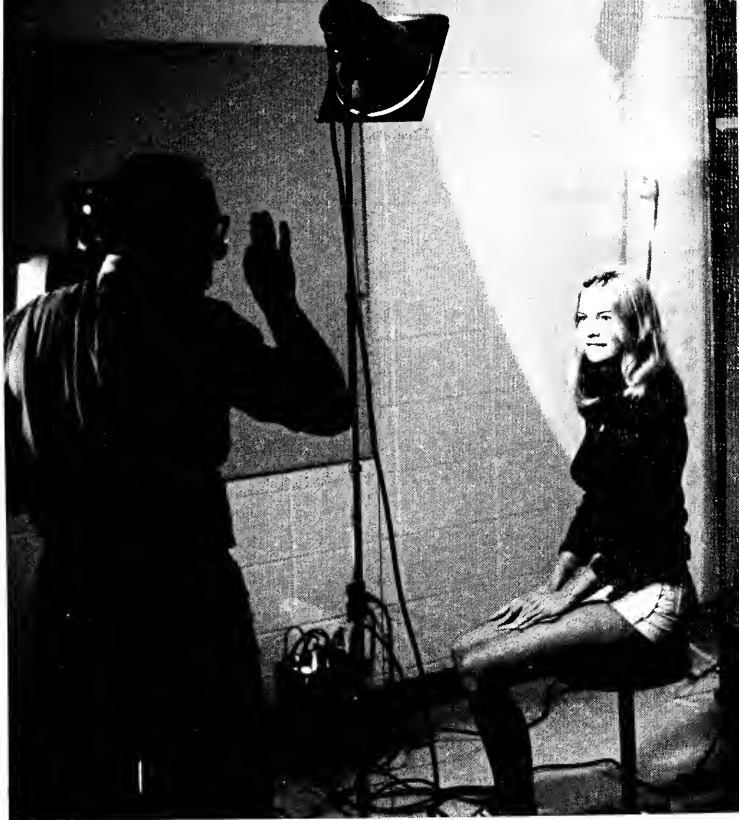

'74 class officers. Tom Madden, Al Martin, Malinda Linn and Terri Riley.

Just try and pick your own face out of a crowd of 548 seniors, it isn't easy.

Kathie Beezely poses for her senior pictures that were taken by Root Photography Studios of Chicago.

The class of 1974 has been labled as the last of the original classes of Northrop. However, they are only the first in a long line of quality Bruins. The classes of 1972 and 1973 infiltrated ideas and traditions at Northrop from their previous schools. The class of 1974 took those ideas and turned them into fullfledged Bruin ideals.

A senior's year is busy and exciting with just the regular activities scheduled for seniors as the Senior Breakfast, the Honors Banquet, Recognition, and graduation. However, the spring of 1974 was extra exciting due to the basketball tourney. There is one chance in 420 that your school will be the state basketball champs, but when it happens during your senior year of high school, its really something to remember.

With graduation came hassle, parties and tears. There is always a certain sadness at every graduation for the friends graduates leave behind and for the unknown future. But for the class of 1974 it involved even more. They seem to be the closest and most active graduating class so far and maybe for quite awhile. This graduation was also different because Papa Bruin graduated with the seniors. He was even presented a diploma at commencement. The 1974 Commencement Ceremony was the shortest in the school's three year history lasting a record breaking 55 minutes.

Seniors salute Rick and Tricia

Richard Sarasién- 1974 Valedictorian

Patricia Sommer- 1974 Salutatorian

Richard Sarasién the 1974 Valedictorian of Northrop maintained an 11.289 grade point average for three years. Rick was on the Honors each semester at Northrop.

As a junior Rick won the Brudney Foreign Language Award in German and was named a Tri Kappa Scholar in the top 1% of his class. In his senior year Rick was named Who's Who in Indiana High Schools and Who's Who among American High School Students. He was also a Hoosier Scholar.

Rick plans to attend the Indiana Purdue Extension in Ft. Wayne. He is undecided at this point what his major will be.

Congratulations Rick!

Patricia Sommer clinched the position of salutatorian for one good reason, she maintained a three year grade average of 11.245 out of a possible twelve points. Each grade period Tricia ranked as a scholar with distinction.

During her three years at Northrop high school Tricia divided her time among many activities. In the 1972-73 school year Tricia was Secretary Treasurer of the sophomore class and a member of the Latin Club. She has been a member of the orchestra for three years fluctuating between the viola, violin, and the piano. She also has been a participant in the PIT orchestra for the past two years.

Our side our school Tricia is an active member of the St. Joe Methodist UMY group. Last summer she served as a counselor for junior high students at Epworth Heights.

Tricia will enroll at Indiana-Purdue Extension at Ft. Wayne for the fall of 1974 to study forestry.

Don't Look Ethyl Ending Closing Advertising Ending

This is the end. We had an unusual year in 1973-74 and maybe the streaker could symbolize the year and the closing of this Bear Tracks. In both cases, its for sure the end is in sight, and there is never any question about the value of advertising.

We Bruins can now say that we 'barely' made it...

"That was some game, eh Willie?" "Right on Papa!"

Our original Papa Bruin gives his last bear hug

Mr. Spuller, you can't know what you have meant to us here at Northrop in just three years. We care about you and in these days of apathy, that's something. But we care about you for a very special reason. Because for the last three years you have been caring about us and for the forty-three years before that you were caring for other students.

After being an educator for forty-six years, you're probably looking forward to some free time. You served nine years in the Adams County and Berne Schools and two years teaching Social Studies at Harrison Hill.

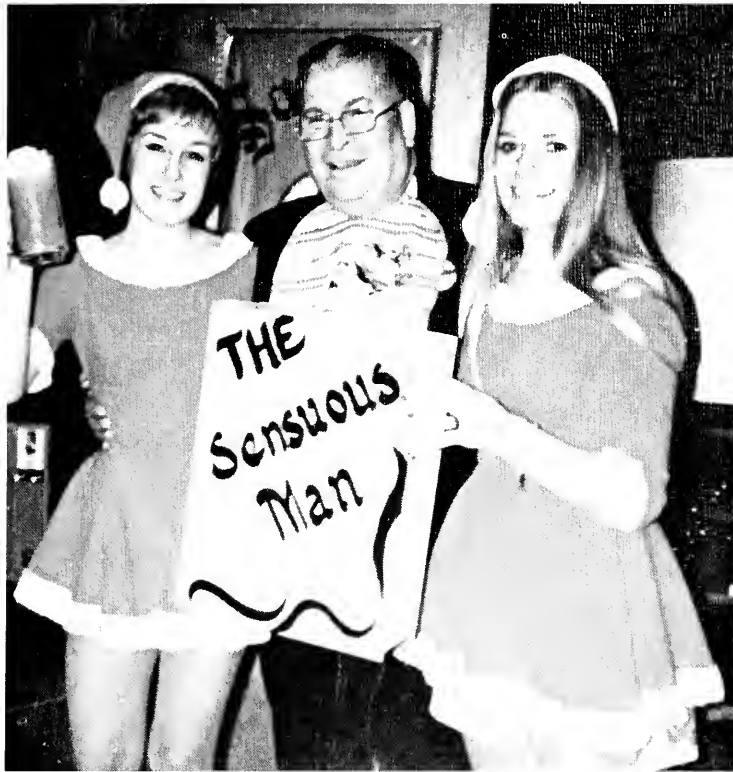

For twenty-eight years you've been a principal: seven years at Justin N. Study School, eight years at James H. Smart School, seventeen years at Central High School, and the last three years at the home of the Bruins. And during these last three years you have accomplished more than most men do in a lifetime.

You've set up a complete new school. You've made students from many schools into one family. Even you were the first to call yourself "Papa Bruin." You have been a part of all the department in the school and helped them make up a school we can all be proud of.

Most of all we'd like to thank you. Thank you for being a part of our lives. You have been a great leader, an understanding judge, a true sports fan, a warm friend to all, a last of the originals. Thank you Mr. Spuller, for a job well done.

"After the School Song, report directly to your third period class."

"The faculty party is half the fun of Christmas. Right ladies!"

"Mr. Spuller, we are about to take you on a journey down memory lane. Papa Bruin, this is your life."

to Northrop

"Five minutes left? Play the School Song again."

Spuller, Martone graduate with 548 in class of '74

The last of the Originals! We were more than that to Northrop. We came here three years ago as students and staff and we are now a school. Everyone outside of school said that we became the best high school in the state when we won the Basketball championship but we know better.

We were the best school in the state for the whole year. We are proud of our Bruin school and want our Bruin school to be proud of us. We want everyone to know that we have the best scholars, the best sportsmen, the best music crew, the best drama group, the best Student Council, the best students, the best staff, the best everything.

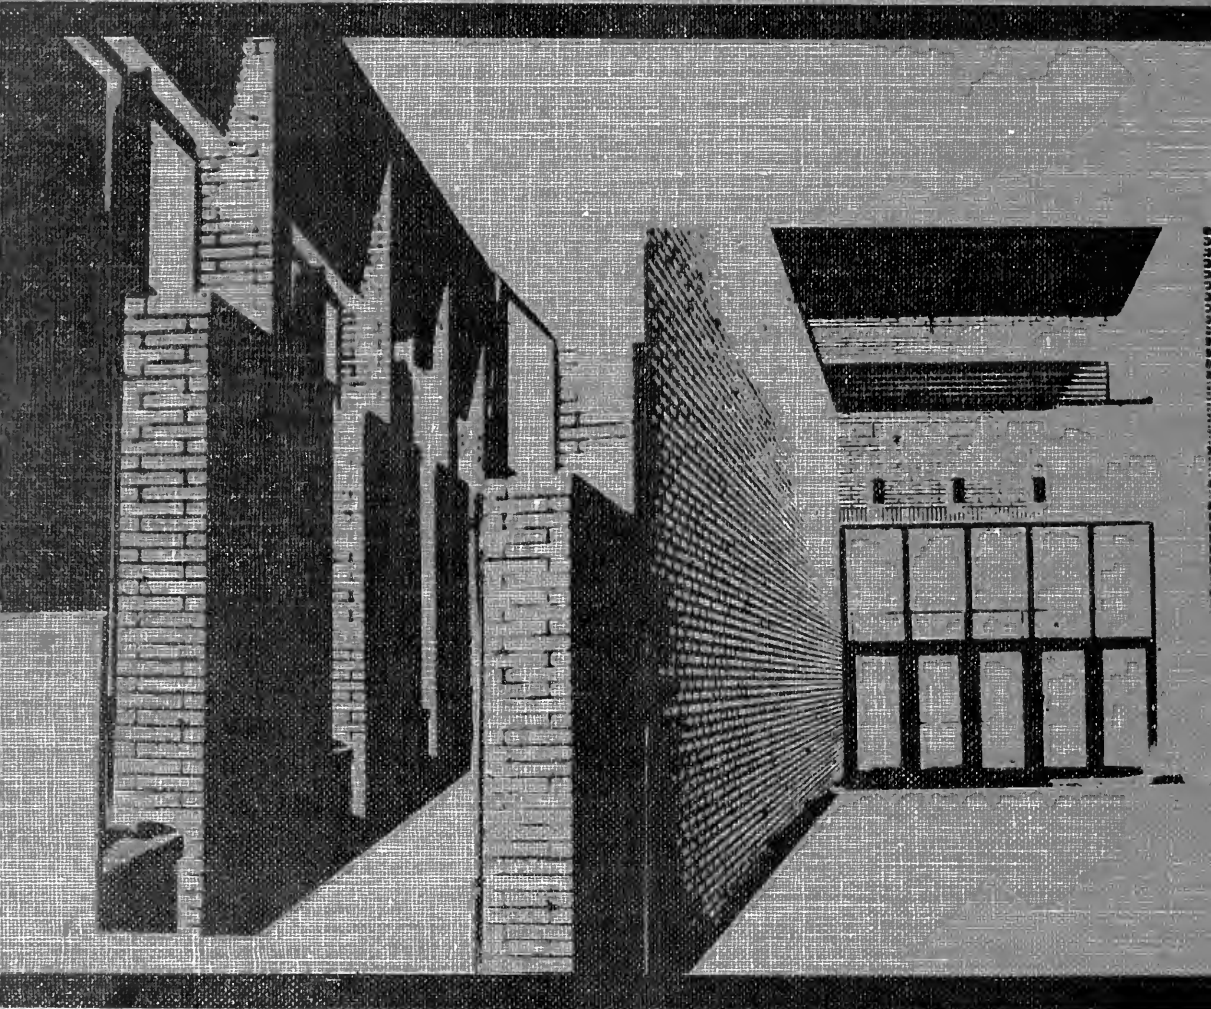

Now though, all of those regular students who came here three years ago as the class of 1974 are gone. Many of the teachers and staff who came three years ago are gone including 'Papa Bruin' Paul Spuller and Dean of Girls Patty Martone. We will miss them but we owe it to the quality of those students and staff that Northrop will be better than ever because they helped mold the Bruin Future.

The 1974 Bear Tracks also says good bye to its editors Brad Lusk and Jody Weimer and their staff. These people are the best kind of people and all their work will bear fruit in even better books with all the work and the changes made.

Now after three years we would like to dedicate ourselves to a better future for Northrop based on the good people that we have graduated and retired and seen promoted and moved elsewhere. The class of '74 is not just the last of the real Original Bruins, but the first in a long line of what will prove to be the 'First of the Original Bruins'. Right On!
